Farm Barter Urged

GOP Solon Hits Ag Giveaway Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Mundt (R-SD) told Secretary of Agriculture Benson Tuesday the United States should press for barter and exchange "before we talk about giving anything away" in the disposal of huge U.S. farm surpluses abroad.

And Sen. Schoepell (R-Kan) sharply reminded Benson that Congress is on record "against dumping our farm surpluses or any give-away program."

The two Midwest senators spoke out as Benson, testifying at a crowded hearing before the Senate Agriculture Committee, underwent lengthy questioning about the Eisenhower administration's plan to send a billion dollars worth of government farm surpluses overseas. Benson said there is no intention of giving the entire billion dollars worth away, and he declared:

"A good part of it should be sold."

Benson said conferences have already begun on the possibility of paying foreign governments in surplus U.S. grains, instead of cash, for the construction of U.S. military bases abroad.

"Payment in farm commodities instead of cash," he said, "would offer any country a pretty good way to build up their standards of living and open up new markets for the United States."

Cooling Off!

Even before Benson testified, facing his second day of critical and sometimes hostile questioning, the administration signalled a six-week "cooling off" period before any Senate showdown on President Eisenhower's controversial farm program is undertaken.

Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee told newsmen he would not push for vote on the issue of flexible farm price supports until about March 1. Aiken is quarterbacking the new program which the President outlined to Congress on Jan. 11.

As set forth by Eisenhower, the government would abandon the present system of rigid price supports for basic crops—fixed by law at 90 per cent of parity—and swing gradually to "flexible" supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a price formula designed to give the farmer a fair return on his crops in relation to the price of things he buys.

No One Can Tell

In his testimony Tuesday Benson said Eisenhower is still hoping to achieve the goal of 100 per cent parity for all farm products in the market place, though not through government supports.

"When do you expect to reach that millennium?" demanded Sen. Ellender (D-La).

"No one can tell when we will get that," Benson replied.

Today's Chuckle

"Thanks very much for the beautiful tie," said Junior, kissing Grandma dutifully on the cheek.

"Oh, that's nothing to thank me for," she murmured.

"That's what I thought, but Ma said I had to."

The Weather

Separate Rooms And Pastel Colors

Old Routine In A Brand New Setting

Men in the service have been shining shoes and writing letters home for a long time, but rarely have they done it under such pleasant settings as S. Sgt. Sydney Paul of Hollywood, Calif., (left) at the Lincoln Air Force Base. At right Major Omer M. Headrick, base provost marshal.

and size of the officers' rooms is much the same. Majors and higher, however, have a private room and bath and lower-ranking officers have private rooms and share a bath.

Officers are furnished with a dresser, bed, chairs and desk but some have purchased their own beds, lamps, rugs, etc.

The construction of these quarters, Col. Wursten said, is all "part of the Air Force policy of making the service more attractive by providing more comfortable quarters."

In fact, even the word "barracks" has disappeared. The present quarters are called "airmen's dormitories"—and in view of what they're like it's a good name.

The 27 airmen dormitories now completed at the base, and the four bachelor officer quarters (BOQ) are each painted a different pastel shade, such as yellow, pink, blue, etc. In front of each is a parking lot for the men's autos and planes are to plant grass around each of the buildings.

Individual Rooms

Inside each of the enlisted men's quarters are 52 rooms, divided between two floors. Three men will be put in each room, Col. Ervin Wursten, base commander, said. A few senior non-commissioned officers will get individual rooms.

Something new, at least to GIs, are the features added to the rooms. Each room has a private sink and toilet articles, cabinet, built-in double-door steel wall closets with steel drawers underneath to replace the old foot-locker.

Each of the two large windows, with combination storm windows and screens, is shaded by venetian blinds. On each floor there is a washroom which will have automatic washing machines, Col. Wursten said. There is a telephone booth on each floor.

Speaking to the more than 400 men and women who registered for the conference, C. C. Lang, associate leader of 4-H clubs for the Department of Agriculture, said the focus on 4-H club work rests both on projects undertaken and on the club organization itself. One of the first objectives of 4-H, he said, is citizenship attained by members through self-planning and self-government of the clubs.

Leaders of Nebraska 4-H clubs meeting in their annual conference in Lincoln Tuesday night, were told that the Nebraska clubs are rated the highest in competition, re-enrollment of members and in the number of clubs organized in the state.

$300,000 Kidnap Plot Is Broken Up

Well-To-Do San Francisco Real Estate Man Rescued Without A Cent Being Paid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police who painstakingly checked every lead for almost 60 hours cracked the biggest kidnaping case in California history early Tuesday, freeing a wealthy young real estate broker and capturing two men who demanded $300,000 for his release.

The kidnapers, who first demanded $500,000, didn't get a penny.

They now face probable life sentences under the state's "Little Lindbergh Law" for abducting Leonard Moskovitz, 36, Saturday noon. The kidnaping touched off the biggest and most secret manhunt ever staged in San Francisco.

The case was unique in that newsmen were fully informed from the start, but all agreed to remain silent to save Moskovitz's life.

Newspaper, wire service and radio reporters manned police headquarters around the clock, following every detail of the hunt. By agreement, however, they didn't release a word until Moskovitz was freed and two former private detectives from Sacramento were nabbed as the kidnapers.

The two were Harold Jackson, 57, who once operated a 100-man guard agency on the San Francisco waterfront, and Joe Lear, 43, now a hearing aid salesman.

Full Confession

Both were booked on charges of suspicion of kidnaping.

Police Chief Michael Gaffey said Lear made a "full confession," blaming Jackson, with whom he had once worked in a private detective agency, for the kidnap scheme. Lear said Jackson asked him in Sacramento for help in "a case" in San Francisco, but that he didn't know what the case was until Moskovitz was kidnaped. He said he was too afraid of Jackson to back out then.

Distr. Atty. Thomas Lynch said the men will be prosecuted under Section 209 of the California Penal Code, which prescribes life imprisonment for kidnaping for ransom, or death if the kidnap victim has suffered bodily harm. Moskovitz was threatened, but was not harmed by his captors.

Gaffey said the two prisoners will be booked into city prison on straight kidnaping charges.

Caught In Phone Booth

The end came when Lear was caught in a sidewalk telephone booth, used previously to telephone ransom demands to the victim's family.

Fifteen minutes later, guided by Lear, Police Inspector A. Nelder kicked open the door of a house in a good San Francisco residential district, arrested Jackson at gunpoint and rescued Moskovitz.

The kidnapers at that time were still negotiating for delivery of the ransom, originally set at $500,000 but reduced to $300,000 when the Moskovitz family said it couldn't raise a half million dollars.

Moskovitz said he was lured to the kidnaping hideout by Jackson, posing as a possible client interested in some real estate property.

Negotiations were conducted by telephone calls to Moskovitz's twin brother, Alfred, in Burlingame, Calif., 18 miles south of San Francisco, and by three letters, all in Leonard's handwriting.

The kidnapers had threatened to emasculate Leonard if the ransom was not paid and to kill him if the police were notified.

He was kept roped, chained or taped most of the time in a house at 187 Arbor Street in the Glen Park District of San Francisco. He was repeatedly threatened with a six-inch hunting knife, but never harmed. At night he lay on the floor with a saucer balanced on each knee, so any sudden movement would send them clattering to the floor and alert the kidnapers.

Northwestern Bell Phone Co. Asks For Another Rate Boost

The Northern Bell Telephone Co. of Omaha, filed application with the State Railway Commission Tuesday for rate increases the company said would bring in $460,800 added net revenue a year.

The company seeks its fifth rate hike since 1928. The last one was granted March 7, 1953, and was estimated to bring in an added $451,000 net a year.

Despite the increases the company said that up to the present, telephone costs have risen 43 per cent whereas the general living costs have gone up 90 per cent.

If the new increase were granted one party residence rates in Omaha would go up 50 cents a month.

Those in exchanges with 5,000 to 10,000 telephones would go up 45 cents. This includes Fremont, Grand Island and North Platte.

Those in exchanges with 2,500 to 5,000 telephones would go up 45 cents. This includes McCook, Norfolk, Sidney and Alliance.

Those in exchanges with 1,000 to 2,500 telephones would go up 40 cents. Included in this group are Broken Bow, Lexington, Ogalala and Chadron.

Service to one-party residence telephones in smaller exchanges would go up 35 cents a month.

The proposed increase for one-party business telephones would range from 45 cents a month in the small exchanges to 90 cents at Omaha.

Company spokesmen said three things have combined to prompt the new request for a rate increase.

General wage increases last year cost the company $500,000 a year, they said.

The amount which the company is obliged to turn over to connecting companies in the joint handling of toll calls has risen. And the company plans a $7,500,000 construction program this year, on top of expenditure of almost as much last year.

The company listed its investment in Nebraska as $33,069,212 at the beginning of 1947. Since then it has been spending at the average rate of $6,459,000 a year for construction, or a total of $45,200,000 in seven years.

The company operates 99 exchanges in Nebraska, serving 219,444 company-owned telephones on farmer-owned lines. It provides long distance connections to 390 exchanges of other companies.

The company also asked the

Fremont, No. Platte Would Be Hit Hardest

Telephone users at Fremont and North Platte would receive an 80 cent a month boost in rates for one-party residence service if the rates schedule proposed Tuesday by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. is approved by the Railway Commission.

The reason these two cities would experience a larger increase than others of similar size is that they are being reclassified into a higher rate group.

"We don't re-classify an exchange when it runs only a few over the number of telephones in that group. But Fremont and North Platte now have about 2,000 more than their old classification, which was Group 'E,'" a company spokesman explained.

As a result, the two cities which had been in the 2,500-to-5,000 group now move up into group "F", the 5,000-to-10,000 group. The rate for the one-party residence telephone in Group "E" now is $4.20 per month. The proposed rate for Group "F" is $5 a month.

For cities remaining in the lower classification, the proposed increase would be only 45 cents a month, and for Grand Island, already in the higher classification, the increase would be only 45 cents a month.

Other cities in a position similar to that of Fremont and North Platte are Alliance and Sidney. They would move up from the 1,000-to-2,500 group, where one-party residence service now costs $3.90, to the 2,500-to-5,000 group, where it would cost $4.65. The increase in these two cities therefore would be 75 cents a month, instead of 40 cents, if they could stay in the lower classification.

The commission Tuesday for authority to offer regular long-distance service for the transmission of heart and brain-wave examinations to medical centers for diagnosis.

The commission will set a date for a hearing on the company's request.

Jeary Receives Protests To Proposed Dropping Of West O, Hospital Runs

Objections have been voiced to Mayor Clark Jeary against the proposed abandonment by Lincoln City Lines of its West O and State Hospital bus lines.

Jeary stated he has received several phone calls in objection to discontinuance of the West O line and one call to date on the Hospital line.

"We will want to make sure that there are adequate substitutes for the cut in service," said Jeary, "before we approve

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

What is the best protection against private waste?

In times past, the best protection against private waste of money has been the competitive system. It is still the best protection. The businessman who squanders or wastes his money simply does not remain in business.

Any attempt on the part of government officials to prevent waste or augment collections through absolute control of business practices must necessarily handicap our economy far more than help it.

What this country needs is more regulations restricting the regulators. Here are a few.

1). Prohibition of "aid" to any foreign country with far lower rates of taxation than has our nation, except in case of actual military necessity or to help meet some temporary local disaster.

Americans traveling in Central and South America report aid to countries in which individuals own mansions as big as hotels and employ as many as fifty servants in the home. In some instances, income taxes, paid only by those out of favor politically, amount to no more than two per cent.

2). Prohibition of "aid" to any foreign country with far lower rates of taxation than has our nation, except in case of actual military necessity or to help meet some temporary local disaster.

3). Compensation to the taxpayer who is unfairly assessed to cover time and legal fees.

4). Protection against retroactive rulings.

Not only are these as unfair as requiring the taxpayer to walk on the ceiling rather than on the floor, but they also leave the taxpayer open to charges of "chiseler" and "swindler" from every demagogue who wishes to use his hollow head as a sounding board.

5). Compensation to the taxpayer who is unfairly assessed to cover time and legal fees.

Nations with income tax rates far below five per cent should look to their own citizens.

In A Surprise Move

Back of that decision by the Senate Interior Committee to link the issue of Hawaiian and Alaskan statehood together was a surprising reverse for Nebraska's Sen. Hugh Butler, it would seem.

Sen. Butler reversed his position with respect to Hawaii, but continued his opposition publicly, at least, to Alaskan statehood. Now the battle moves from the sheltered walls of the Senate committee onto the floor of the Senate. Sen. Butler expressed the opinion that when the bill does reach the floor of the Senate, statehood for the two territories will be considered separately.

The Sovereign State

One of the President's most cherished objectives is to restore to each of the 48 states a measure of authority and responsibility for the handling of their own affairs. This is the answer, Mr. Eisenhower feels, to the slow, steady drift to Big Government in Washington. Give people on the local level a greater voice in decision in what is or is not to be done, and we can expect better government.

In theory, at least, it sounds good. In the earlier years of national development, years of unlimited new land and accompanying settlement, it worked. The older we become, the more mature America becomes, the more apparent it is that a theory of government frequently does not fit the realities of our times.

Mark Childs in two single sentences skillfully and accurately sums up the facts in this theory of states rights as opposed to a strong federal government in Washington. In his column on this page, Mr. Childs writes:

"There are many who talk of states rights as a smoke screen for their real objective which is to eliminate functions of government which they disapprove of. More often than not, the states are unprepared or unwilling, or both, to assume responsibilities."

There is so much of truth in what Mr. Childs says. We want Washington to furnish the money to finance what we regard as desirable developments within the borders of our state. We pursue these federal hand-outs aggressively. We expect them. Then we say to the government we ask to finance them that Washington should keep its fingers out of our affairs and let us run our own business.

Nowhere could this be more apparent at this time than in the discussions of national policy in the development of natural resources. The governors of these Missouri Basin states expect Washington to pay the bulk or all of the cost of a program of conservation of natural resources, yet they talk of state responsibility and local responsibility.

To their voice is added that of many who,

Of Men And Things

In all the talk about "Operation Honesty," this editor has heard more in honest spirit in inquiry as to how to go about it to value household goods than any other phase of current discussion.

There was a meeting at the state house Monday to give consideration to a uniform plan for depreciation for all kinds of personal property, intangibles excepted. Nebraska's tax laws do not empower the state taxing authority to establish a scale for depreciation.

Any uniform plan can be drafted only on the basis of voluntary acceptance by the individual taxpayer. Out of that day-long conference came a suggestion from State Tax Commissioner George Peterson that the owners of household goods and equipment as well as business equipment could follow this formula: (a) For the first and second years after an article has been purchased, it should be reported at 60 per cent of the original cost, which in turn would be cut in half so that the owner actually would be taxed on 30 per cent of the original value; (b) For the third and fourth years, depreciation would be 10 per cent, reducing the return to 50 per cent of the original cost; (c) For the fifth and sixth years, depreciation of an additional 10 per cent, or reported at 40 per cent of the original cost; (d) For the seventh and eighth years, an additional 10 per cent depreciation, or 30 per cent of the original value, and taxed on a basis of 10 per cent of the original cost.

In establishing depreciation of household goods, the pattern clings to the view that no matter how long the items may be in use, they possess some value to the owner, namely a fifth of the original cost, which under the present law would mean that they are to be taxed at 10 per cent of the original cost.

That is, of course, an arbitrary plan. It is to say that in the home, the use given to the home's furnishings is uniform in every household—or to put it another way, it is to say that the care extended to household furnishings does not vary. In defending the practice of putting a minimum ceiling of 20 per cent of the cost on all property, Tax Commissioner Peterson said that while it might actually be worth less than the value fixed in the tax return, the taxpayer is getting the benefit of the large depreciation on new goods he may have purchased. It will be clear that there is nothing simple or easy in all of this business of attempting to determine in honest spirit how household furnishings shall be depreciated. There is no sure and no accurate way in dealing with thousands of individual cases. After an item has been in use for 20 to 25 years, which may be the case in many homes, it can be described for want of a better term as "over-age" and of very little market value, if any.

No Really Equitable Formula. Tax Commissioner Peterson said that while it might actually be worth less than the value fixed in the tax return, the taxpayer is getting the benefit of the large depreciation on new goods he may have purchased. It will be clear that there is nothing simple or easy in all of this business of attempting to determine in honest spirit how household furnishings shall be depreciated. There is no sure and no accurate way in dealing with thousands of individual cases. After an item has been in use for 20 to 25 years, which may be the case in many homes, it can be described for want of a better term as "over-age" and of very little market value, if any.

This is said not in the spirit of criticism but to indicate the real difficulties in the path of an honest assessment. To put it mildly, March promises to be an interesting month in more ways than one. For guidance it is important that the taxpayer have a depreciation formula in front of him.

Ike Is More Liberal After Year In Office

WASHINGTON — It is now exactly one year since Dwight Eisenhower entered the White House, a year that has been one of great education and has seen great changes. Here is a thumb-nail sketch of the Ike of today:

Ike and Business—A year ago Eisenhower's economic theories sounded like a National Association of Manufacturers pamphlet. Now he has swung back halfway to the ideas expressed at the F Street Club right after the war which so shocked Republican backers. "If men's lives were conscripted in wartime," Ike said at the F Street Club dinner, "why shouldn't profits be conscripted too?" ... Ike is more conservative than in those immediate prewar years, but less so than a year ago. Once he doesn't believe in a complete hands-off policy toward business. Nor does he believe that the doctrine of states' rights, so loudly proclaimed a year ago, constitutes a cure-all for everything.

Ike and Economy—No longer does the President believe he can balance the budget. Nor does he view government-spending with anathema, as he did a year ago. He is willing to put his foot in government-spending water as an offset to recession worries. But he is a long way from taking the big spending plunge ... And some of the economists around him recall that it takes a lot of spending to halt a business slide once it starts ... Ike has changed his mind about creeping socialism and the Tennessee Valley, has already set aside $105,000,000 to start another "creeping socialism" project on the St. Lawrence, once the seaway project passes Congress ... The economic bloc in the Eisenhower administration, notably Secretary George Humphrey and Budget Director Joe Dodge, still remain Ike's close friends, but he doesn't follow their advice as much as formerly ... Sometimes the chief executive is unwillingly torn between the two wings of his official family.

NEW ADVISERS
Men Around Ike — A man who's had little experience in civilian government is almost completely dependent on the men around him. That's why it's significant that a new flank of advisers has moved in around the President ... They aren't liberal by the Harry Hopkins standard, but they are far more progressive than the big-business golfing partners who used to move over from Sea Island to Augusta when Ike went to the Georgia "White House" ... Some wiseacres call them "hucksters" rather than liberals, and it's true that the new flank is passionately concerned with upping Ike's Gallup poll rating ... However, they include Kevin McCann, president of the Defiance College; Charles Moore, up-and-coming former

VEERING TOWARD EUROPE
Ike and Foreign Policy—This is the field that Eisenhower knows best and where he is determined to chalk up notable achievements. Here he has been more consistent than in domestic policy, but sometimes so cautious that his own advisers get impatient ... It took time to get him to make the $15,000,000 loan gift to East Germany last spring, a move actually initiated by the State Department and which met with immediate success. Later, when an old-clothes drive was planned to help the East Germans, the summer White House in Denver misplaced Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's letter for three weeks and the clothes drive never did get under way.

The President also hesitated three months before he made his speech proposing the pooling of atomic energy, and the speech was rewritten more than 20 times.

Ike the Man—After one year in the White House, the President works harder than before. Sensitive to criticism that he is lazy, he plays less golf and makes more decisions himself. During early months as President Ike tried to delegate almost everything, even bawled out his staff when they called him back from Burning Tree on the instruction of the National Security Council to make a major decision on Korea.

Training Period Over,
Ike Must Show Way

WASHINGTON—In the weeks just ahead, President Eisenhower faces a series of tests as critical as any in his long career. The threads of fate are curiously interwoven in such a way that failure could put in great peril all that Eisenhower has stood for. It is hardly necessary to add that his own reputation, his wide popularity, are also in the balance.

In view of what lies just ahead it is important to examine the "new Eisenhower" in whom the President's associates and friends put renewed confidence and trust. They see the new Eisenhower as master of a situation which in the first months of the presidency was inevitably strange and alien.

To begin with, Eisenhower and his team have gone a long way toward mastering the most difficult job in the world. It took time, as it would for any man, even an experienced politician, to get on top of the formidable assemblage of powers centered in the White House. Particularly with a party out of power for 20 years, a period of trial and testing was certain.

Rigid Supports—Crops supported at a mandatory price level set by Congress. At present it is 90 per cent of parity.

Two Price System—A plan that would give the farmer a supported price for the part of his crop absorbed by domestic consumption and whatever the market will bring for that part which is exported or used as feed.

Made Crime Pay

With apologies to radio and television crime sometimes does pay. The British just proved it. They put contribution boxes in their prisons and derived enough money to put the national hospital aid drive over the top.

Clears The Terms
As a rope to lead its readers through the technical terms upon which current farm program debates are based the Minneapolis Tribune has provided four basic definitions. It helpfully says:

Parity—is a price formula for farm products to guarantee the farmer a fair return in terms of what he must pay for products to run his farm and feed his family. The present formula is based on the years from 1910-1914.

Modernized Parity—A formula adopted by Congress in 1949 and deferred. It would figure parity on an average of the previous 10 years.

Rigid Supports—Crops supported at a mandatory price level set by Congress. At present it is 90 per cent of parity.

Two Price System—A plan that would give the farmer a supported price for the part of his crop absorbed by domestic consumption and whatever the market will bring for that part which is exported or used as feed.

Football, Pro And Con

Archer, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The resignation of Chancellor Gustavson, which dealt a crippling blow to our university and resulted in an incalculable loss to our state, provoked little comment and elicited no such public outcry as was accorded the recent football controversy in Lincoln. The emphasis placed upon competitive athletics by American schools amounts to a national scandal. I wish I could say something which might help persuade our schools to ease up on athletic programs and get down to brass tacks, performing the services for which they were instituted. We expand and glorify the trivial and inconsequential, while we minimize or least fail to encourage the things which are significant and important. This unmistakable trend towards levity and frivolity is lamentable. A return to sanity seems a remote prospect, but we should try for it.

Our schools, bogged down with athletics, exemplify fairly well the old gags about a cart before the horse and a tail on the wrong end of a dog.

Some current beliefs are misleading—competitive athletics do not promote good health or longevity, ends sought and actually attained by intelligent physical training. For some years I have observed that a high percentage of men who pass on short of 50 have been star athletes in early life. A physician once said to me, "Show me a group of highly trained athletes and I will show you a group of short-lived men."

The vast expenditure of money for the maintenance of these athletic programs is not justifiable. Many persons who do not own their homes or even the cars in which they ride drive long distances and pay large admission fees to witness these contests.

Promoters of the present order are the players, their friends and admirers but mainly, I think, those who have a financial stake in assembling large crowds. Sports directors should be clean, wholesome, and morally sound. Winning games, after all, is not the first consideration.

FRED A. MASH

Fairbury, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I want to congratulate you on your sensible editorial on the football situation at the university. I think jumping on the boys, as some have done, was entirely wrong and certainly did not help the situation.

The Athletic Board and the Board of Regents surely made a mistake in giving a 10-year contract. I agree with former Chancellor Gustavson that coaches should not be given any longer contracts than regular faculty members.

I hope the situation clears but am very much afraid the coming season will be even worse than the last.

L. K. CRAMB

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We have always enjoyed Sports Editor Anderson's column, but lately simply can't go along with him because he is upholding Glassford in his defeatist attitude, inept handling of players, losing record etc. Let's get a new combination coach-athletic director and really get behind him and give the kids a chance.

JACK MILLER

Boston, Mass.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I see by The Star where there has been a big blowup again at the university. I for one would like to see track athletics get a fair shake in the future, and Nebraska get back where it belongs in the Big Seven in track.

"RED" LITTER

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The action taken in presenting a petition against Coach Bill Glassford was an unfortunate thing for the university and the state of Nebraska. But I can't help thinking that the situation, which has been developing for some years, could have been averted with the help of better reporting of the NU football picture.

If the situation had been presented to the public as it truly was, and was known to the press not as a completely peaceful scene but as an obviously unhealthy condition, the tension and pressure might have been relieved in time to prevent the actions of the past week.

Apparently the members of the press wish to close their eyes to certain facts and to report only favorable and pleasant sporting news. I sincerely believe that with some critical reporting, the athletic department would have taken stock of their position. Public opinion is a strong factor—we have learned this much in the controversy.

Certainly Coach Glassford has suffered and the persons involved will have this hovering over their heads for some time. Some good has come out of this mess for it can't help but make a more pleasant atmosphere and also a better coach.

We all want a winning team and a well-respected university. This episode has at least relieved the tensions that have been hampering NU ball players for some time.

PETITION SIGNER

Crete, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There seems to have been a lot of controversy in the power situation lately. It

In theory, at least, it sounds good. In the earlier years of national development, years of unlimited new land and accompanying settlement, it worked. The older we become, the more mature America becomes, the more apparent it is that a theory of government frequently does not fit the realities of our times.

Mark Childs in two single sentences skillfully and accurately sums up the facts in this theory of states rights as opposed to a strong federal government in Washington. In his column on this page, Mr. Childs writes:

"There are many who talk of states rights as a smoke screen for their real objective which is to eliminate functions of government which they disapprove of. More often than not, the states are unprepared or unwilling, or both, to assume responsibilities."

There is so much of truth in what Mr. Childs says. We want Washington to furnish the money to finance what we regard as desirable developments within the borders of our state. We pursue these federal handouts aggressively. We expect them. Then we say to the government we ask to finance them that Washington should keep its fingers out of our affairs and let us run our own business.

Nowhere could this be more apparent at this time than in the discussions of national policy in the development of natural resources. The governors of these Missouri Basin states expect Washington to pay the bulk or all of the cost of a program of conservation of natural resources, yet they talk of state responsibility and local responsibility.

To their voice is added that of many who,

Of Men And Things

In all the talk about "Operation Honesty," this editor has heard more in honest spirit in inquiry as to how to go about it to value household goods than any other phase of current discussion.

There was a meeting at the state house Monday to give consideration to a uniform plan for depreciation for all kinds of personal property, intangibles excepted. Nebraska's tax laws do not empower the state taxing authority to establish a scale for depreciation.

Any uniform plan can be drafted only on the basis of voluntary acceptance by the individual taxpayer. Out of that day-long conference came a suggestion from State Tax Commissioner George Peterson that the owners of household goods and equipment as well as business equipment could follow this formula: (a) For the first and second years after an article has been purchased, it should be reported at 60 per cent of the original cost, which in turn would be cut in half so that the owner actually would be taxed on 30 per cent of the original value; (b) For the third and fourth years, depreciation would be 10 per cent, reducing the return to 50 per cent of the original cost; (c) For the fifth and sixth years, depreciation of an additional 10 per cent, or reported at 40 per cent of the original cost; (d) For the seventh and eighth years, an additional 10 per cent depreciation, or 30 per cent of the original cost. After eight years, 20 per cent of the original value, and taxed on a basis of 10 per cent of the original cost.

This is especially true of the farm program. Food-consuming areas view farm subsidies as a penalization assessment upon themselves for the benefit of individuals who produce the crops. And farmers themselves are prone to view federal programs in terms of personal gain or loss. But the compelling principle follows the impersonal necessity to keep a national economy in balance which is done by stabilizing the income of one specialized section with another. When that principle is more convincingly grasped, the task of shaping the most practicable program will be greatly simplified.

Clears The Terms

As a rope to lead its readers through the technical terms upon which current farm program debates are based the Minneapolis Tribune has provided four basic definitions. It helpfully says:

Parity—is a price formula for farm products to guarantee the farmer a fair return in terms of what he must pay for products to run his farm and feed his family. The present formula is based on the years from 1910-1914.

Modernized Parity—A formula adopted by Congress in 1949 and deferred. It would figure parity on an average of the previous 10 years.

Rigid Supports—Crops supported at a mandatory price level set by Congress. At present it is 90 per cent of parity.

Two Price System—A plan that would give the farmer a supported price for the part of his crop absorbed by domestic consumption and whatever the market will bring for that part which is exported or used as feed.

With apologies to radio and television crime sometimes does pay. The British just proved it. They put contribution boxes in their prisons and derived enough money to put the national hospital aid drive over the top.

This is said not in the spirit of criticism but to indicate the real difficulties in the path of an honest assessment. To put it mildly, March promises to be an interesting month in more ways than one. For guidance it is important that the taxpayer have a depreciation formula in front of him.

That is, of course, an arbitrary plan. It is to say that in the home, the use given to the home's furnishings is uniform in every household—or to put it another way, it is to say that the care extended to household furnishings does not vary. In defending the practice of putting a minimum ceiling of 20 per cent of the cost on all property, Tax Commissioner Peterson said that while it might actually be worth less than the value fixed in the tax return, the taxpayer is getting the benefit of the large depreciation on new goods he may have purchased. It will be clear that there is nothing simple or easy in all of this business of attempting to determine in honest spirit how household furnishings shall be depreciated. There is no sure and no accurate way in dealing with thousands of individual cases. After an item has been in use for 20 to 25 years, which may be the case in many homes, it can be described for want of a better term as "over-age" and of very little market value, if any.

Ike Is More Liberal After Year In Office

If that proves to be the case, it will be rather disillusioning. Hawaii finds itself in favor over Alaska at this time because it is looked upon as traditionally Republican, and the addition of two seats in the United States Senate, where the narrowest of margins exists between the two parties, could prove helpful politically. Alaska, on the other hand, is classified as a normal Democratic territory, although in 1952 the Alaskans elected a Republican territorial legislature.

There ought to be some better measure of eligibility for statehood than political maneuvering.

2,000,000 Diplomats

The United States is not only a massive exporter of goods. It is exporting people, too. There are two million American citizens now making their homes abroad. Only a part of them are on more or less temporary service as government representatives and employees. Most of them are resident representatives of American business, education or professions. And as American influence grows, the number is increasing.

Finding an American career outside of America is a new national experience. It does not follow the British pattern which distributed its people over the globe through the channels of empire. The United States neither maintains nor seeks an empire. Its extruded population specializes in service rather than governmental authority. It meets the citizens of the host countries more on the neighbor level. There are few, if any, political strains.

Unquestionably the internationalization of growing number of Americans will have a telling effect on future relationships between the United States and the outside world. It will make this country more world conscious just as it will teach other nations more about us. How well that will work out will greatly depend upon the outgoing American's personal sense of diplomacy and statesmanship.

Men Around Ike

A man who's had little experience in civilian government is almost completely dependent on the men around him. That's why it's significant that a new flank of advisers has moved in around the President. They aren't liberal by the Harry Hopkins standard, but they are far more progressive than the big-business golfing partners who used to move over from Sea Island to Augusta when Ike went to the Georgia "White House."

Some wiseacres call them "hucksters" rather than liberals, and it's true that the new flank is passionately concerned with upping Ike's Gallup poll rating. However, they include Kevin McCann, president of the National Security Council to make a major decision on the Defiance College; Charles Moore, up-and-coming former

Stabilization Again

The principle that a nation must be healthy in all its parts to be sound as a whole guided the administration in its decision to funnel defense work into areas of industrial unemployment. Surprisingly, it was not a popular decision in many sections. Areas where the defense wheels are spinning merrily are reluctant in the name of stabilization to share in a slight slowing down. It is a short-sighted view.

This is especially true of the farm program. Food-consuming areas view farm subsidies as a penalization assessment upon themselves for the benefit of individuals who produce the crops. And farmers themselves are prone to view federal programs in terms of personal gain or loss. ### Ike Is More Liberal After Year In Office

WASHINGTON — It is now exactly one year since Dwight Eisenhower entered the White House, a year that has been one of great education and has seen many great changes. Here is a thumb-nail sketch of the Ike of today:

Ike and Business —A year ago Eisenhower's economic theories sounded like a National Association of Manufacturers pamphlet. Now he has swung back halfway to the ideas expressed at the F Street Club right after the war which so shocked Republican backers. "If men's lives were conscripted in wartime," Ike said at the F Street Club dinner, "why shouldn't profits be conscripted too?"

Ike and Congress — Congressional relations is a field that greatly worries the President. At first he figured he could "good-will" members of Congress, that White House luncheons, personal conversations would keep congressmen in line. Now he is a wiser man. Nothing but a strong and successful policy, he has begun to realize, can keep Congress with him. And he still hasn't learned this completely.

Ike and Economy —No longer does the President believe he can balance the budget. Nor does he view government-spending with anathema, as he did a year ago. He is willing to put his foot in government-spending water as an offset to recession worries. But he is a long way from taking the big spending plunge. And some of the economists around him recall that it takes a lot of spending to halt a business slide once it starts.

Ike and Foreign Policy —This is the field that Eisenhower knows best and where he is determined to chalk up notable achievements. Here he has been more consistent than in domestic policy, but sometimes so cautious that his own advisers get impatient. It took time to get him to make the $150,000 food gift to East Germany last spring, a move actually initiated by the State Department and which met with immediate success.

VEERING TOWARD EUROPE —Some wiseacres call them "hucksters" rather than liberals, and it's true that the new flank is passionately concerned with upping Ike's Gallup poll rating. However, they include Kevin McCann, president of the National Security Council, to make a major decision on the

NEW ADVISERS —Men Around Ike —A man who's had little experience in civilian government is almost completely dependent on the men around him. They aren't liberal by the Harry Hopkins standard, but they are far more progressive than the big-business golfing partners who used to move over from Sea Island to Augusta when Ike went to the Georgia "White House."

Ike and Foreign Policy —This is the field that he is least familiar with. He plays less golf and makes more decisions himself. During early months as President Ike tried to delegate almost everything, even bawled out his staff when they called him back from Burning Tree on the instruction of the National Security Council, prior to his entrance into politics for the first time at the age of 61, lacking an understanding of the practicalities, the realities, that modify the theory.

In view of what lies just ahead it is important to examine the "new Eisenhower" in whom the President's associates and friends put renewed confidence and trust. They see the new Eisenhower as master of a situation which in the first months of the presidency was inevitably strange and alien.</

Double-Lane Paving Protest Is Filed

23 Touzalin Residents Sign Petition

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A petition bearing 23 signatures of property owners on Touzalin between Adams and Fremont has been filed with the city clerk in protest to the cost of double lane paving on Touzalin between the above two points.

This is the second protest filed in recent weeks against the cost of double lane paving. Double lane paving on Sherman between 48th and Fremont was one of the points of objection to the total cost of $155,000 for paving in District 1150 just east of 48th from Gladstone to Fremont.

Touzalin is a part of the record breaking District 1182 which includes some six miles of paving, mostly between Adams and Fremont from 56th to Cotner. The district is a record in both the number of miles of paving and its total cost, $422,405.

'Not Consulted'

Protesting property owners alleged that "we were not consulted as to our wishes about the two lane street and since this is part of the city planning, we feel that the city should assume part of that assessment." They state also that their properties are benefited no more from the double lane paving than they would be from single lane paving.

Protests in District 1150 brought an overall $15,000 reduction in the total cost of the district. This left property owners along Sherman, the double lane, paying at the rate of $14.11 per equivalent foot frontage and on single lane paving at the rate of $9.16 per equivalent front foot.

Equivalent footage is a formula used by the city engineering department to determine the area of a lot as it would be figured if the lot were normal. Equivalent front feet are shorter than regular front feet, so the rate for regular front footage would be higher.

The equivalent front foot rate on Touzalin in 1182 is $13.88 while the single lane rate in 1182 is $9.02 per equivalent front foot. Touzalin is 20 feet wide on both lanes.

Always Two Lanes

Referring to the statements by property owners that they were not consulted on the double lane paving, the engineering department noted that the street has always been two lanes and it would be almost inconceivable that it would be paved in any other manner. The original dirt roadways, it was noted, were separated by center parkways with huge trees in them.

Double lane paving was so apparent, said the engineering department, that it seems interested parties would have realized it and said something before the paving was laid.

The petition which property owners signed asking for paving mentioned the streets in the district but did not stipulate Touzalin as a double-lane boulevard.

The assessment of $422,405 in District 1182 has been approved by the City Council with the council scheduled to sit Monday at 10 a.m. as the board of equalization for equalization and distribution of the assessment.

The equivalent front foot rate on Touzalin in 1182 is $13.88 while the single lane rate in 1182 is $9.02 per equivalent front foot. Touzalin is 20 feet wide on both lanes.

Always Two Lanes

Referring to the statements by property owners that they were not consulted on the double lane paving, the engineering department noted that the street has always been two lanes and it would be almost inconceivable that it would be paved in any other manner. The original dirt roadways, it was noted, were separated by center parkways with huge trees in them.

Double lane paving was so apparent, said the engineering department, that it seems interested parties would have realized it and said something before the paving was laid.

The petition which property owners signed asking for paving mentioned the streets in the district but did not stipulate Touzalin as a double-lane boulevard.

The assessment of $422,405 in District 1182 has been approved by the City Council with the council scheduled to sit Monday at 10 a.m. as the board of equalization for equalization and distribution of the assessment.

23 Touzalin Residents Sign Petition

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A petition bearing 23 signatures of property owners on Touzalin between Adams and Fremont has been filed with the city clerk in protest to the cost of double lane paving on Touzalin between the above two points.

This is the second protest filed in recent weeks against the cost of double lane paving. Double lane paving on Sherman between 48th and Fremont was one of the points of objection to the total cost of $155,000 for paving in District 1150 just east of 48th from Gladstone to Fremont.

Touzalin is a part of the record breaking District 1182 which includes some six miles of paving, mostly between Adams and Fremont from 56th to Cotner. The district is a record in both the number of miles of paving and its total cost, $422,405.

Double-Lane Paving Protest Is Filed

23 Touzalin Residents Sign Petition

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

A petition bearing 23 signatures of property owners on Touzalin between Adams and Fremont has been filed with the city clerk in protest to the cost of double lane paving on Touzalin between the above two points.

This is the second protest filed in recent weeks against the cost of double lane paving. Double lane paving on Sherwood Dr. from 48th to Fremont was one of the points of objection to the total cost of $155,000 for paving in District 1150 just east of 48th from Gladstone to Fremont.

'Not Consulted'

Protesting property owners alleged that "we were not consulted as to our wishes about the two lane street and since this is part of the city planning, we feel that the city should assume part of that assessment." They state also that their properties are benefited no more from the double lane paving than they would be from single lane paving.

Protests in District 1150 brought an overall $15,000 reduction in the total cost of the district. This left property owners along Sherwood, the double lane, paying at the rate of $14.11 per equivalent foot frontage and on single lane paving at the rate of $9.16 per equivalent front foot.

Equivalent footage is a formula used by the city engineering department to determine the area of a lot as it would be figured if the lot were normal. Equivalent front feet are shorter than regular front feet, so the rate for regular front footage would be higher.

The equivalent front foot rate on Touzalin in 1182 is $13.88 while the single lane rate in 1182 is $9.02 per equivalent front foot. Touzalin is 20 feet wide on both lanes.

The Innards Of The Nautilus

The U.S. Navy in Washington Tuesday released this artist's sketch of the workings of the Nautilus, world's first nuclear powered submarine. Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, wife of

Nautilus Is Most Livable Sub Ever Built

NEW YORK (AP)—The colors, the lights, the bunks, the space are enough to make an old pigboatman cry: "This ain't the old Navy."

And it isn't. This is the Navy of the deadly Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, which will be launched Thursday.

It's also a Navy preoccupied by "habitability."

It would do no good for an atomic-powered submarine to be stayed at sea indefinitely if its crew couldn't stand up under the wearing days in their cramped quarters.

Bedside Lights

Special berths, with foam rubber mattresses and bedside lights, were installed. There are specially designed shaving mirrors, and washing and drying machines for the laundry.

In the crew mess area, bright red seat cushions and yellow walls give visual relief from the narrow range of colors used elsewhere.

The mess tables are designed to be folded away or can be con-

Gavins Point Recreational Plans Up For Discussion

First Meet In Lincoln Thursday

OMAHA (AP)—The first of a series of conferences will be held in Lincoln Thursday to explain the Army Engineers' proposals for acquisition of land around the Gavins Point reservoir for access roads and use as recreational areas.

The Army engineer spokesman said Col. Thomas J. Hayes III, Omaha district engineer, will go over the proposals with Paul Gilbert, executive secretary of the Nebraska Game Commission. Similar conferences will be held with Elmer Peterson, South Dakota game commissioner, and with interested groups in both states.

The proposal would define a new "taking line" or boundary of land to be acquired around the reservoir site. With the exception of some modifications suggested by the division engineer's office here, this spokesman said, the "taking line" recommended will generally follow the agreement worked out by the Department of Defense and the Department of Interior last fall.

Uniform Policy

This agreement established the uniform policy for both agencies to purchase only the land actually needed for operation of the reservoir up to an elevation involved in floods of the five-year frequency rate. In addition to that, the agencies' plan is to determine what additional land might be occasionally flooded and put that land under easement, rather than outright purchase.

Most of the land on the south or Nebraska side of the big Missouri River dam, had been acquired before this policy was put into effect, but a smaller amount of land had been acquired on the north or South Dakota side.

Some thought more land was needed for development on the north side of the dam than was planned and asked the secretary of army to consider it.

Modify Restrictions

The general policy agreed on last fall does cut out some recreational areas originally proposed, but the division office has made recommendations for modifying the restrictions sufficiently to make sure the public could have adequate access to the area.

Another factor believed to be influencing the thinking of some interested groups, particularly in South Dakota is the question of whether the proposed line would be far enough back from the reservoir to screen out unwanted or undesirable construction close to the recreational areas.

The chief of engineers has acted on the division office recommendations and the proposal now is ready for consideration by the game commissions and interested citizens.

Few repairs have been necessary since the building was completed, and no alterations or additions are planned. W. F. Germant was the architect. (Star Staff Photo.)

State Savings Assets For '53 Total $9,811,48

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—Assets of the State Savings and Loan Association of Beatrice totaled $9,811,485.38 at the end of 1953, stated M. S. Hevelone, president, at the association's annual meeting held here Tuesday.

The following officers were re-elected at the meeting:

M. S. Hevelone, president; W. E. Johnson, vice president in charge of Lincoln office and chief appraiser of the association.

L. E. Whittaker, secretary; H. L. Ludden, treasurer.

W. R. Arpke, assistant secretary.

Miss Iva E. Kramer, assistant secretary.

Miss Eileen Woods, assistant treasurer.

Miss Dorothy Ludden, Lincoln office manager.

Glenn Buck, executive vice president of the Nebraska Farmer Company, and H. R. Deitemeyer, president of the First National Bank of Beatrice, were re-elected directors.

In his report, Hevelone pointed out that despite increasing temptations to spend, the American people become more thrifty with each passing year. Hevelone said savings associations never drop out of the home financing field, but are the only constantly reliable source of home mortgage money.

'Honesty' Drive Scid Smoke Screen

OMAHA (AP)—Douglas County Commissioner George Woodward Tuesday called Gov. Crosby's "Operation Honesty" a "smoke screen" to hide the fact that the Republicans are "too deep" in tax problems to be able to provide a cure.

Woodward told the weekly meeting of the Douglas County Democratic Club that Omahans will find the tax increases on homes and businesses "almost unbelievable." He laid the blame on the governor and on the State Board of Equalization. Woodward said the board had increased Omaha property valuations by 48 per cent after promising to let the figures of the county board alone.

Cleaning up the tax situation "will make a major operation which only the Democratic Party can supply," he said.

Two Nebraska Wells Showing Good Output

DENVER (AP)—Two oil wells in Nebraska were among those showing substantial production gauges during the past week.

As reported by Petroleum Information, these were:

Pubco Development's No. 2 Franzens property in Cheyenne County, Nebraska, 190 barrels per day. The operator calculated a potential of 500 barrels per day.

Stanley T. Kiespert's No. 1-A Long in Kimball County, Nebraska, 185 barrels per day from the "D" sand.

The reporting service said Shell Oil may drill an extension well to its discovery in South Dakota's Harding County. The discovery well, No. 1 State-A, has been put on pump and in the first 24-hour product test made 135 barrels of oil and 133 barrels of water from 8,660-90 feet.

'Normal-Relation' Defense Indicated In Sabel's Trial

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—The defense in the Mark Sabel conspiracy trial indicated Tuesday it will seek to show that the relationship between Sabel and the former Sioux City director of public safety was a normal one based on personal and political friendship.

Four prospective jurors had been seated at recess time to hear Sabel's trial on charges that he conspired with former Safety Director Nicholas P. O'Millikuk to interfere with lawful bidding on certain public contracts and in the issuance of beer permits.

The preliminary skirmish over selection of a jury indicated a long legal battle was in prospect.

Prospective jurors seated Tuesday, in addition to the two questioned Monday, were Roy D. Mothearth, 43 and Elmer A. Bettis, 24.

Referring to the fact that Sabel, a fruit broker, had acted as campaign manager for O'Millikuk in city elections, the defense attorney, Frank Margolin, said it is natural for a campaign manager and a candidate to be friends and see "eye to eye" together and that "when a man takes political office he can retain his friends."

He asked the prospective jurors:

"Isn't it natural for a man in office to seek advice and discuss his problems with his friends?"

Phil Allen, chairman of the Nebraska Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) committee sponsoring the appearance, said Brannan would give a keynote address at a birthday observance for the late President Roosevelt. Proceeds will go to Iowa and Nebraska polio funds, Allen said.

State Savings Assets For '53 Total $9,811,48

Lincoln Star Special

BEATRICE, Neb.—Assets of the State Savings and Loan Association of Beatrice totaled $9,811,485.38 at the end of 1953, stated M. S. Hevelone, president, at the association's annual meeting held here Tuesday.

The following officers were re-elected at the meeting:

M. S. Hevelone, president; O. D. Johnson, vice-president in charge of Lincoln office and chief appraiser of the association.

H. R. Deitemeyer, secretary; W. R. Arke, assistant secretary; Miss Iva Kramer, assistant secretary; Miss Elyse Woods, assistant treasurer; J. D. Jacob, deputy appraiser and manager of the Hastings office; Miss Dorothy Ladd, Lincoln office manager.

Glenn Buck, executive vice president of the Nebraska Farmer Company, and H. R. Deitemeyer, president of the First National Bank of Beatrice, were re-elected directors.

In his report, Hevelone pointed out that despite increasing temptations to spend, the American people become more thrifty with each passing year.

Hevelone said savings associations never drop out of the home financing field, but are the only constantly reliable source of home mortgage money.

Flames Destroy Edgar Farm Home

Lincoln Star Special

EDGAR, Neb.—Lack of water prevented firemen from saving the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Piepho. Most of the furniture, however, was carried from the burning house.

Fire Chief Wayne Hunter believes the fire started around the chimney, probably from an overheated stove or defective chimney. The farm is owned by Philip Wilson.

Referring to the fact that Sabel, fruit broker, had acted as campaign manager for O'Millikin in city elections, the defense attorney, Frank Margolin, said it is natural for a campaign manager and a candidate to be friends and see "eye to eye" together and that "when a man takes political office he can retain his friends."

He asked the prospective jurors:

"Isn't it natural for a man in office to seek advice and discuss his problems with his friends?"

Phil Allen, chairman of the Nebraska Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) committee sponsoring the appearance, said Brannan would give a keynote address at a birthday observance for the late President Roosevelt. Proceeds will go to Iowa and Nebraska polio funds, Allen said.

Brannan To Speak At Event Marking Birthday Of FDR

OMAHA (AP)—Former Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan is scheduled to speak here Jan. 30.

Another factor believed to be influencing the thinking of some interested groups, particularly in South Dakota is the question of whether the proposed line would be far enough back from the reservoir to screen out unwanted or undesirable construction close to the recreational areas.

The chief of engineers has acted on the division office recommendations and the proposal now is ready for consideration by the game commissions and interested citizens.

Two Nebraska Wells Showing Good Output

DENVER (AP)—Two oil wells in Nebraska were among those showing substantial production gauges during the past week.

As reported by Petroleum Information, these were:

Pubco Development's No. 2 Franzon property in Cheyenne County, Nebraska, 190 barrels per day. The operator calculated a potential of 500 barrels per day.

Stanley T. Kiespert's No. 1-A Long in Kimball County, Nebraska, 185 barrels per day from the "D" sand.

The reporting service said Shell Oil may drill an extension well to its discovery in South Dakota's Harding County. The discovery well, No. 1 State-A, has been put on pump and in the first 24-hour product test made 135 barrels of oil and 133 barrels of water from 8,660-90 feet.

'Normal-Relation' Defense Indicated In Sabel's Trial

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—The defense in the Mark Sabel conspiracy trial indicated Tuesday it will seek to show that the relationship between Sabel and the former Sioux City director of public safety was a normal one based on personal and political friendship.

Four prospective jurors had been seated at recess time to hear Sabel's trial on charges that he conspired with former Safety Director Nicholas P. O'Millikin to interfere with lawful bidding on certain public contracts and in the issuance of beer permits.

The preliminary skirmish over selection of a jury indicated a long legal battle was in prospect.

Prospective jurors seated Tuesday, in addition to the two questioned Monday, were Roy D. Moothart, 43 and Elmer A. Bettis, 24.

Referring to the fact that Sabel, fruit broker, had acted as campaign manager for O'Millikin in city elections, the defense attorney, Frank Margolin, said it is natural for a campaign manager and a candidate to be friends and see "eye to eye" together and that "when a man takes political office he can retain his friends."

Quality Corn Brings Early Marketing Of Cattle

Fast Gains Reported

The exceptionally good quality of corn available for feeding this winter has resulted in an earlier marketing of cattle.

The State-Federal Division of Agricultural estimates in its weekly report on crop conditions Tuesday pointed out that the good corn combined with very favorable weather this winter has caused higher prices for finished cattle in several counties of the state. This in turn has caused a premature marketing of the cattle.

According to the report, larger gains are possible on cattle this winter. Gains of up to 2.6 pounds per day have been reported. While Nebraska cattle feeding is down 17 per cent from the unusually high numbers of a year ago, the total is still considerably above the average for Jan. 1. Nationally, cattle feeding is down 9 per cent.

Wheat Is Good

The condition of winter wheat was reported good. Snow, however, would be helpful in many places as the top-soil is dry. Last week's snow, while fairly general, was too light to be of material benefit.

A marked increase of interest in pump irrigation was reported. Irrigated corn in southwestern and south-central regions averaged five times as much in yield as did dryland corn in the same counties.

The condition of winter barley in southwestern Nebraska remains favorable. Some fears were reported over the condition and outcome of the late seeded alfalfa. Prices of alfalfa are remaining high with good quality baled alfalfa selling for as high as $30 a ton in some counties.

Snow Scheduled For Area Wednesday

It will snow Wednesday over the western lakes region, the northern and central plains, most of the northern and central Rockies, the north Pacific coastal region and the Great Basin. It will rain over the Ohio Valley, the lower lakes region and the southwest. Freezing rain will fall over the central Mississippi Valley and the northern section of Michigan. Shower activity will occur over the western gulf states, the southern Rockies and southernmost California. It will be colder in central third of the country and mild over the eastern third. ### Damage Estimated At $25,000 In Peru Farm Seed Corn Fire

Lincoln Star Special

PERU, Neb.—Two thousand bushels of seed corn, seed corn grading equipment, a building, a large double corn crib and a pickup truck were destroyed in a fire at the G. C. Kennedy and Son farm, four miles south of Peru. Part of the seed corn may be salvaged to be used for loss has been estimated at $25,000. Although the truck and part of the grading equipment were insured, the corn was not insured.

Cause of the blaze remains unknown, but observers said it might have been started by a wood heating stove in the building which had had a fire in it earlier in the day.

Spotted By Neighbors

The blaze was first noticed by neighbors who called the Peru and Auburn Fire Departments. However, a mix-up in signals delayed the Auburn truck.

Peru firemen worked all night in zero weather, controlling the blaze which for a time threatened all the nearby buildings.

1954 Turkey Outlook Same

Nebraska turkey raisers have indicated to the State and Federal Reporting Service that they intend to raise just about the same number of birds in 1954 as in 1953. That would be around 819,000.

The five year 1946-50 average was 759,000.

A larger number of light breed turkeys, primarily Beltsville Whites, is indicated in 1954. The predicted number this year is 34,000 compared to 22,000 last year.

The report stated that the number actually raised often varies from the January estimate as final production is influenced by feed prices, weather conditions, supply and price of hatching eggs and pouls, and the outlook for the price that may be received for mature turkeys in the fall.

For the U. S., the report indicated an increase of seven per cent in the crop—up to 59,631,000 birds.

First Farm-Out Oil Well Drilling Deal Under Way

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—The Jet Drilling Co. has started the first of three farm-out oil well drilling deals in Cheyenne County two miles southwest of Gurley. All of the deals are with the Ohio Oil Co.

Drilling was reported below 1,600 feet at the Oliver Beard No. 1.

The other deals involve the No. 1 Lillian Johnson six miles north and two west of Sunol, and the No. 1 Witters four miles north of Colton.

Ohio Oil, meanwhile, has announced completion of its No. 1 Hatcher well in the Doran farms area west of Sidney. The first day's pumping total was 82 barrels of oil with 3 per cent water.

Ohio has set casing at the No. 1 George Baird in the West Sidney gas field and the well will be completed for commercial gas production from the D sand.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. says...

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobaccos...especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobaccos.

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobaccos today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensified larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given to us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

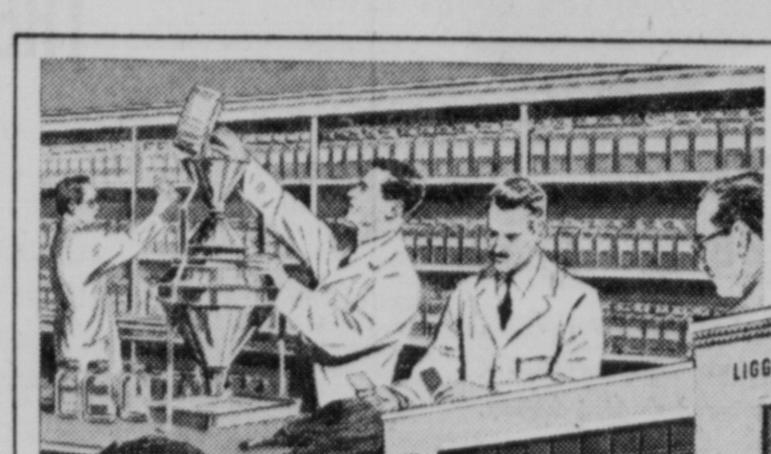

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country,"* and eminent scientists from leading universities.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.

Soviet Claims U.S. Subject To Crushing Blows 'In Event Of War'

LONDON (AP) — The Russian people were told Tuesday the United States and its military allies would be subject to crushing blows by air and underseas fleets in the event of a new world war.

The Moscow radio gave full treatment in its domestic service to a 2,000-word article in the government newspaper Izvestia aimed mainly at U. S. foreign policy.

Washington's "policy of strength ultimately leads to war, and war under modern conditions means colossal destruction," said the article, written by an anonymous "general in reserve."

"The only way (to a peaceful solution of international controversies) is the way of negotiation, based on a sober calculation of the rights and interests of the big and small countries."

The Izvestia article—played up just six days before the Big Four foreign ministers are to convene in Berlin—talked of Britain's vulnerability to air attack and said the United States' allies in event of war "must become ruthlessly and inevitably, theaters of military operations upon which the destructive force of modern weapons will descend with all their power."

"Weapons of mass destruction" will be used, it said, "unless these are prohibited by an international act or the states which possess such weapons renounce their use."

Russia repeatedly had demanded an outright ban on atomic weapons but wants no international check on her factories and stockpiles. The United States has insisted that any such ban must be accompanied by an effective system of inspection to insure compliance.

Speaking of "the danger which a modern war carries for the people of the U.S.A." the article said:

"Postwar development of technical devices for use as weapons of war has made such strides ahead that the ocean is no longer a reliable protection from the shocks of war."

"Modern developments in aviation, jet-propelled weapons and the submarine fleet have made possible crushing blows over a distance of many thousands of kilometers. Elementary knowledge of modern military science confirms this convincingly enough."

The article did not mention preliminary talks now underway between Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zubarin on President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic pool for peaceful use.

J. C. Casement of Clay Center, Kan., a traveling salesman for a paint brush and utility company, reported to police the theft of $350 in brushes by a quick-theft artist in Lincoln.

Casement said he had set the brushes—in a sample show carton—on the curb at 21st and O for loading into his car. He then got in the car, temporarily forgetting about the brushes.

LONDON (P) — The Russian people were told Tuesday the United States and its military allies would be subject to crushing blows by air and undersea fleets in the event of a new world war.

The Moscow radio gave full treatment in its domestic service to a 2,000-word article in the government newspaper Izvestia aimed mainly at U. S. foreign policy.

Washington's "policy of strength ultimately leads to war, and war under modern conditions means colossal destruction," said the article, written by an anonymous "general in reserve."

"The only way (to a peaceful solution of international controversies) is the way of negotiation, based on a sober calculation of the rights and interests of the big and small countries."

The Izvestia article—played up just six days before the Big Four foreign ministers are to convene in Berlin—talked of Britain's vulnerability to air attack and said the United States' allies in event of war "must become, ruthlessly and inevitably, theaters of military operations upon which the destructive force of modern weapons will descend with all their power."

"Weapons of mass destruction" will be used, it said, "unless these are prohibited by an international act or the states which possess such weapons renounce their use."

Russia repeatedly had demanded an outright ban on atomic weapons, but wants no international check on her factories and stockpiles. The United States has insisted that any such ban must be accompanied by an effective system of inspection to insure compliance.

Speaking of "the danger which a modern war carries for the people of the U.S.A.," the article said:

"Postwar development of technical devices for use as weapons of war has made such strides ahead that the ocean is no longer a reliable protection from the shocks of war."

Modern developments in aviation, jet-propelled weapons and the submarine fleet have made possible crushing blows over a distance of many thousands of kilometers. Elementary knowledge of modern military science confirms this convincingly enough."

The article did not mention preliminary talks now under way between Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin on President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic pool for peaceful use.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Secretary of State Dulles cleared the way Tuesday for direct talks with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov on President Eisenhower's proposal for an international pool of atomic resources and know-how.

Dulles reached the agreement in a meeting late Tuesday with Georgi Zarubin, Soviet ambassador to Washington, with whom he has been discussing preliminary arrangements for full-dress atomic discussions.

The secretary will see Molotov next week when the foreign ministers of the U. S., Great Britain, France and Russia meet at Berlin to discuss German and Austrian questions.

Earlier Dulles served blunt notice that unless Russia has changed its "divide and weaken" tactics, the Berlin meeting is doomed to failure.

Constructive Mood

The secretary declared emphatically at his news conference that if, however, the Soviets "approach this conference in a constructive mood" there is a good chance of substantial progress in easing East-West tensions.

Zarubin, before Tuesday's half-hour session with Dulles, brushed past newsmen with no comment. He left the State Department by a private elevator.

The State Department then put out a brief statement, in which the ambassador presumably concurred. It said in part:

"The secretary plans, in agreement with Mr. Molotov, to continue these discussions in Berlin."

Time And Place

Dulles and Zarubin, who is also going to Berlin, have been concerned with such matters as agreeing on a time, place and agenda for higher level negotiations to follow.

President Eisenhower set the stage for their meetings in a Dec. 8 address before the United Nations General Assembly in which he outlined his atoms-for-peace proposal in broad terms.

Dulles warned at his news conference that, at Berlin, the Western powers will not "be fooled by Kremlin 'tactics of division.' But he said that if Russia cooperates "the conference could have large historical significance."

The session opening Jan. 25 is the first Big Four conference since the cold war began nearly five years ago.

The State Department announcement that Dulles would discuss the atomic pool with Molotov reversed a statement made by the secretary at his news conference when he said he had no plans to take it up with the Soviet foreign minister.

Time Goes On, But Old Doc Townsend And His Pension Plan Still Kicking

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — It came as a surprise Tuesday to learn that both old Doc Townsend and his pension plan still are alive and moderately healthy.

But they are, and Dr. Francis E. Townsend is in town to prove it.

Of the two, the doctor, who has just turned 87, appears to be in the better condition. "I'm in better health today than I have been in 50 years," he said.

But the Townsend plan, which has just turned 25, seems a mite peaked.

Still Optimistic

Townsend said the $2-a-year memberships don't roll in as they once did, back in depression days. He wouldn't say what the present enrollment is, though.

"I'm not particularly in favor," he said, "of having you tell the public how much we're dropping off."

The Townsend plan has been before Congress for something like 18 years, and Congress hasn't passed it yet.

Still, the doctor is optimistic. That's because he thinks he scents a recession—"they're laying men off by the thousands in Detroit"—and he figures a recession may scare Congress into passing the legislation he wants.

Not Much Change

The plan hasn't changed much during the years. Townsend wants a tax on gross income, with the returns to be passed around to the aged and the infirm.

He used to advocate a 3 per cent tax but now he thinks 2 per cent will do the job.

But of Townsend and his plan,

Try To Break A. & P. Chain

NEW YORK (AP) — The federal government Tuesday abandoned efforts to break up the A. & P. food chain, whose red-front stores are a shopping mecca for American housewives in 40 states.

In return, however, the nation's largest food chain—with 6,000 retail stores—agreed to dissolve the Atlantic Commission Co., its produce buying subsidiary.

Atlantic was accused of working both sides of the street—buying for A. & P. at the same time it was selling to competitors.

The consent decree signed here by Federal Judge Edward A. Cooper ended a bitter four year anti-trust civil suit. Charging monopoly, the government originally tried to break the food chain into seven independent and competing units. But it said Tuesday A. & P. has begun "to mend its ways."

Brownell Comments

A. & P. said its breaking up would "result in complete remodeling of the entire economic structure of the country."

In Washington, Atty Gen. Brownell declared:

"Nothing in the decree will deter A. & P. from continuing to sell groceries at prices which would normally result from the efficiency of its buying and selling operation or from any lawful use of its merchandising skill and extensive distribution facilities."

A. & P. President Ralph W. Burger said:

"The agreement reached with the anti-trust division constitutes recognition of the fact that there is nothing basically wrong with our traditional policy of selling food cheap."

PUSAN (Wednesday) (INS) — Twenty-four Communist spy suspects were held by Republic of Korea Marines in Pusan today. ROK marine intelligence sources said the spy ring operated only on a "minor scale" but had planned sabotage and espionage activities. ## Preliminary Plans For Annual State Demo Dinner Made OMAHA (AP) — Preliminary plans are under way for the annual dinner of Nebraska Democrats but neither the date nor the speaker has been selected as yet.

National Committeeman Bernard Boyle said Tuesday he was preparing a letter to go out to the leaders over the state asking their suggestions on a date and on a speaker.

"We want to find out who the people would like to hear," he said. When the replies come in, Boyle said he would push ahead as rapidly as possible with definite plans.

The national Committeeman said he had made some inquiries as to the availability of leading party figures but no decision would be made until he had the advice of the leading figures within the state.

MOST of the news this morning has a "goodbye" or a "welcome home" angle—but we also have other news—some of it happy—some of it not—we're sorry to learn, for instance, that Mrs. Earl Cline has been at Lincoln General Hospital since the week end—and that Mrs. A. D. Mun-

THIS is the day we say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. James Swanson who are taking off for Arizona where they will spend the next two weeks at the Wig Wam, near Phoenix.

Miss Jeannette Kleinert Is Bride of Ralph Best

MRS. RALPH BEST

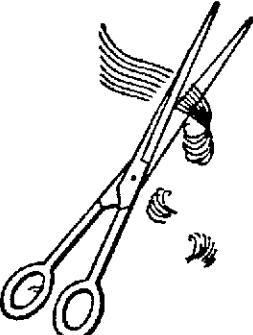

Lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra, and fan arrangements of white stock and gladioli were combined with winter greenery to appoint the chancel of the Trinity Methodist Church where the marriage of Miss Jeannette Rose Kleinert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kleinert, to Ralph Best, son of Mrs. Nettie Best of Lincoln, and George Best of Del Mar, Calif., was solemnized on Tuesday evening, Jan. 19. Loops of satin ribbon, caught with miniature sprays of greenery, marked the processional aisle.

The Rev. Vance D. Rogers, minister of Trinity Methodist, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and Miss Sally Liederman, organist, played the wedding music. Miss Liederman also accompanied Don Ingram who sang, "Because," and "I Love Thee," preceding the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," at the close of the benediction.

Miss Ruth Kleinert, wearing a coral shade, was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Madeline Best, in sapphire blue, was the bridesmaid. Their frocks, styled identically, were fashioned of velvet and net. The bare-shouldered bodices of velvet had a deep decolletage filled in with pleated net, and were worn under brief bolero jackets of velvet. The bouffant waltz-length skirts were fashioned of net. Each carried a bouquet of white gladioli florets, blue-throated for the maid of honor.

NEWS from the east coast tells us that Mr. and Mrs. Vance Traphagen are in New York City—visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates, Jr. Heard that Mr. and Mrs. Traphagen went to Connecticut to see Mr. Yates's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates, and had a longer visit than they had anticipated—they were snowbound for a day or two.

HEARD that Mrs. Craig O'Brien was a coffee hostess at her home Tuesday morning when she entertained the mothers in the neighborhood as a courtesy to a new neighbor—Mrs. Robert Wilson—who with Mr. Wilson and their family recently moved to Lincoln from St. Louis.

A "Welcome Home", "Goodbye" Morning

MOST of the news this morning has a "goodbye" or a "welcome home" angle—But we also have other news—some of it happy—some of it not—We're sorry to learn, for instance, that Mrs. Earl Cline has been at Lincoln General Hospital since the week end—and that Mrs. A. D. Mun-ger also is at Lincoln General, recuperating satisfactorily—

THIS is the day we say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. James Swanson who are taking off for Arizona where they will spend the next two weeks at the Wig Wam, near Phoenix—

Miss Jeannette Kleinert Is Bride of Ralph Best

Lighted candles in seven-branched candelabra, and fan arrangements of white stock and gladioli were combined with winter greenery to appoint the chancel of the Trinity Methodist Church where the marriage of Miss Jeannette Rose Kleinert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kleinert, to Ralph Best, son of Mrs. Nettie Best of Lincoln, and George Best of Del Mar, Calif., was solemnized on Tuesday evening, Jan. 19. Loops of satin ribbon, caught with miniature sprays of greenery, marked the processional aisle.

The Rev. Vance D. Rogers, minister of Trinity Methodist, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service, and Miss Sally Lierance, organist, played the wedding music. After a short honeymoon trip, for which Mrs. Best wore a brown suit, with brown accessories, and a beige top-coat, Mr. Best and his bride will go to San Diego, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed with the Navy.

Mrs. Best is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

Well! Well!

Just read a statement by a mere man who said that women never should become executives because:

1. They don't have enough of the so-called initiative.

3. They can be pushed around.

Please pardon our raucous laughter.

Use Your Head

By JOHN POWERS

With warm radiance and a pleasant expression you have far greater chance of being thought beautiful than has the woman with perfect features and an exquisite complexion but a "dead pan." An expressionless face, incapable of looking pleasant no matter how beautiful, leaves others as cold as it appears.

Your thoughts and feelings, your voice and words, all are powerful factors in transmitting your emotional reactions. But today, let's just consider the physical means with which to convey expression. These are your lips and eyes.

Your Setting

Just as a lovely picture needs a good frame to set it off, so do eyes and lips that are winningly expressive. The frame or setting for your eyes and lips is your head. And the trick here is to learn to keep your head still!

If it bobs up and down or cucks from side to side as fast as you talk or think, your expression will not register. Eyes especially, with their subtle changes, need a tranquil and serene head if their alluring qualities are to be apparent.

For a week, concentrate on these factors:

1. There is just one correct position for your head: It should be balanced equally between your shoulders. Tilting it from side to side is a mannerism that betrays lack of poise.

2. There is just one way to carry your head: High—not by thrusting your chin up and not by pushing it back to form a double chin. The secret lies in stretching your neck up and up—and back at the same time!

3. When you must turn your head, always lead with your eyes. Turn your eyes first and then let your head follow. Almost invariably, those unschooled in the art of personal appeal will turn their eyes and head at the same time, minimizing the dynamic force of their facial expression. (Test the principle before your mirror and you'll see the difference.)

Use Your Head

By JOHN POWERS

With warm radiance and a pleasant expression you have a far greater chance of being thought beautiful than has the woman with perfect features and an exquisite complexion but a "dead pan." An expressionless face, incapable of looking pleasant no matter how beautiful, leaves others as cold as it appears.

Your thoughts and feelings, your voice and words, all are powerful factors in transmitting your emotional reactions. But today, let's just consider the physical means with which to convey expression. These are your lips and eyes.

Your Setting
Just as a lovely picture needs a good frame to set it off, so do eyes and lips that are winningly expressive. The frame or setting for your eyes and lips is your head. And the trick here is to learn to keep your head still!

If it bobs up and down or rocks from side to side as you talk or think, your expression will not register. Eyes especially, with their subtle changes, need a tranquil and serene head if their alluring qualities are to be apparent.

For a week, concentrate on these factors:

1. There is just one correct position for your head: It should be balanced equally between your shoulders. Tilting it from side to side is a mannerism that betrays lack of poise.

2. There is just one way to carry your head: High—not by thrusting your chin up and not by pushing it back to form a double chin. The secret lies in stretching your neck up and up—and back at the same time!

3. When you must turn your head, always lead with your eyes. Turn your eyes first and then let your head follow. Almost invariably, those un schooled in the art of personal appeal will turn their eyes and head at the same time, minimizing the dynamic force of their facial expression. (Test the principle before your mirror and you'll see the difference.)

Kentucky's Grip On First Place Appears Secure

Threatening Indiana In Third; Dukes Are Second

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — Although once-beaten Indiana has been making fresh threats, Kentucky's grip on the top place in the Associated Press basketball rankings isn't likely to be loosened for a while.

By a solid vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, the unbeaten Kentucky Wildcats were returned to the top spot this week with Duquesne still second and Indiana third.

After the returns were in, Indiana, the 1953 NCAA champion, walloped Ohio State, 94-72, Monday night for its 12th victory in 13 starts this season. But that was the last chance the Hoosiers will have to menace Kentucky's lead until Feb. 1. Like Indiana, undefeated Duquesne had to take time out for examinations and has no games scheduled this week.

The other members of the "Big Five" are due for more action this week. Western Kentucky, which moved into fourth place ahead of Oklahoma A&M after running its string to 16 straight victories, takes on Tennessee Tech today and Memphis State Saturday. The Oklahoma Aggies (15-1) play at North Texas State Saturday.

These five teams far outdistanced the rest in this week's balloting. With 127 experts voting, Kentucky drew 42 first-place votes and a total of 1,106 points on the basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc. Duquesne, winner of 15 straight, topped 30 of the ballots for a 995 point total and Indiana 16 firsts and 905 points. Western Kentucky drew 769 points to take fourth while Oklahoma A&M collected 697 points.

Then there was a big drop to Notre Dame at 221 and Oklahoma City at 211. Notre Dame, unranked a week ago, jumped to sixth place in the poll after whipping the former holder of that position, Holy Cross.

The Crusaders dropped to eighth after taking their first defeat and George Washington, also beaten for the first time, slid from seventh to tenth.

George Washington will get a chance to improve its rating at Virginia's expense Thursday. Saturday games involving high ranking teams include Oklahoma City (7) at Wyoming, Minnesota (9) at Northwestern, Niagara (18) at Canisius and LaSalle (19) at North Carolina State.

The leading teams 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-2-2 point basis (first place votes and won-lost records through Monday in parentheses):

Bobo's First Bout Since Turpin

Olson Returns To Ring Against Rindone

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mid-weight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, trimly geared and punching with precision, takes on Joe Rindone here Saturday night in a 10-round non-title fight.

It will be Olson's first bout since he won the crown by beating England's Randy Turpin. The champ can't be accused of taking on a soft touch in what is a tune-up for big battle in Chicago April 2, when he will defend his crown against welterweight king, Kid Gavilan.

Rindone is rough, tough and absolutely not awed by the fact he has a date with the boss of the 160-pound division. The match will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 8 p.m. (CST).

Olson has been working out as diligently as if he were preparing to defend the title.

College View Draws Toughest Opener In Ak-Sar-Ben Tourney

GAMES TODAY
First Round
3 p.m.—Ashland vs. Omaha Westside.
5:30 p.m.—Colleges: Views vs. Plains
6:30 p.m.—Blair vs. Valley.
8:30 p.m.—Wahoo vs. Belie.

College View draws perhaps the toughest assignment of the day in the Ak-Sar-Ben Conference basketball tournament beginning today at Wahoo.

Rex Mercer's Viewmen play Plattsburgh, the tourney favorite, at 4:45 p.m. in one of the four first-round games scheduled for today. Plattsburgh beat College View 58-35 in a regular season game earlier.

The big threat for the Blue Devils is 6-foot 6-inch Jim Jacques, who clears the banks and scores with equal ease.

College View has just returned from a two-day swing through central Nebraska. The Viewmen lost to Holdrege and Franklin on the trip and will be after their second win of the season tonight.

Blair, rated as the biggest stumbling block in Plattsburgh's

way, plays Valley in a night-bracket game which precedes the Wahoo-Bellevue affair. Omaha Westside and Ashland open the tournament at 3 p.m.

Simpson Winner Over Omaha 72-61

INDIANOLA (AP) — Led by Forward Benny Pace who scored 30

Kentucky's Grip On First Place Appears Secure

Threatening Indiana In Third; Dukes Are Second

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (P) — Although once-beaten Indiana has been making fresh threats, Kentucky's grip on the top place in the Associated Press basketball rankings isn't likely to be loosened for a while.

By a solid vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, the unbeaten Kentucky Wildcats were returned to the top spot this week with Duquesne still second and Indiana third.

After the returns were in, Indiana, the 1953 NCAA champion, walloped Ohio State, 94-72, Monday night for its 12th victory in 13 starts this season. But that was the last chance the Hoosiers will have to menace Kentucky's lead until Feb. 1. Like Indiana, undefeated Duquesne had to take time out for examinations and has no games scheduled this week.

The other members of the "Big Five" are due for more action this week. Western Kentucky, which moved into fourth place ahead of Oklahoma A&M after running its string to 16 straight victories, takes on Tennessee Tech today and Memphis State Saturday. The Oklahoma Aggies (15-1) play at North Texas State Saturday.

These five teams far outdistanced the rest in this week's balloting. With 127 experts voting, Kentucky drew 42 first-place votes and a total of 1,106 points on the basis of 10 for first place, nine for second, etc. Duquesne, winner of 15 straight, topped 30 of the ballots for a 95-point total and Indiana 16 firsts and 905 points. Western Kentucky drew 769 points to take fourth while Oklahoma A&M collected 697 points.

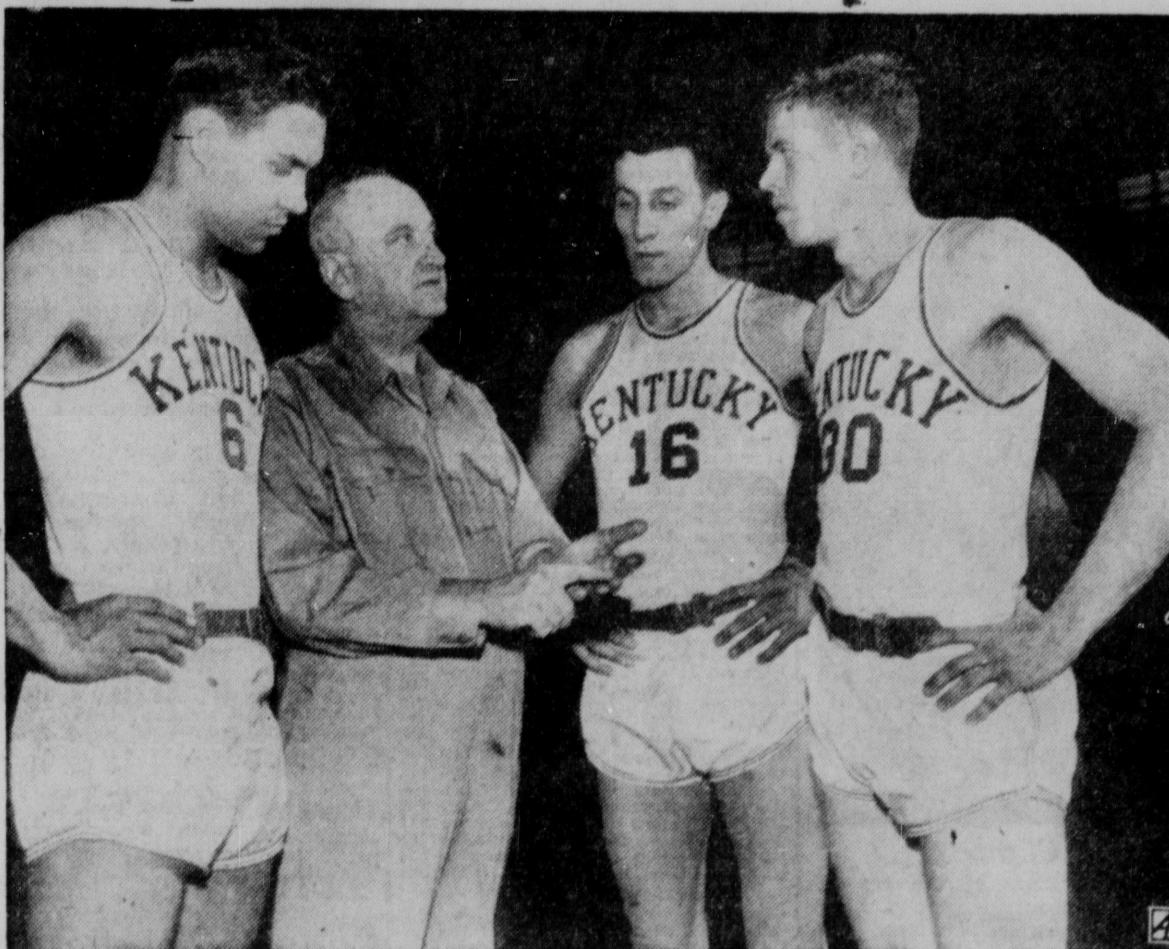

Then there was a big drop to Notre Dame at 221 and Indiana at 211. Notre Dame, unranked a week ago, jumped to sixth place in the poll after whipping the former holder of that position, Holy Cross.

The Crusaders dropped to eighth after taking their first defeat and George Washington, also beaten for the first time, slid from seventh to tenth.

George Washington will get a chance to improve its rating at Virginia's expense Thursday. Saturday games involving high ranking teams include Oklahoma City (7) at Wyoming, Minnesota (8) at Northwestern, Niagara (18) at Canisius and LaSalle (19) at North Carolina State.

The leading teams 10-0-8-7-6-

5-4-3-2-1 point basis (first place votes and won-lost records through Monday in parentheses):

And Still Der Baron Won't Let Up

The University of Kentucky's basketball team may be at the top of the Associated Press poll, but as far as Coach

Bobo's First Bout Since Turpin

Olson Returns To Ring Against Rindone

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mid-weight champion Charly C. (Bobo) Olson, trimly geared and punching with precision, takes on Rindone here Saturday night in a 10-round non-title fight.

It will be Olson's first bout since he won the crown by beating England's Randy Turpin.

The champ can't be accused of taking on soft touch in what is a tune-up for big battle in Chicago, April 2, when he will defend his crown against welterweight king, Kid Gavilan.

Rindone is rough, tough and absolutely not awed by the fact he has a date with the boss of the 160-pound division. The match will be nationally televised by ABC, starting at 8 p.m. (CST).

Olson has been working out as diligently as if he were preparing to defend the title.

Rex Mercer's Viewmen play Plattsmouth, the tourney favorite, at 4:45 p.m. in one of the four first-round games scheduled for today. Plattsmouth beat College View 58-35 in a regular season game earlier.

The big threat for the Blue Devils is 6-foot 6-inch Jim Jacques, who clears the banks and scores with equal ease.

Olson has been working out as diligently as if he were preparing to defend the title.

Sharing in this belief is Rindone's co-manager, Jim Daley. He thinks Olson has the speed to keep pace with Gavilan.

Daley also points out that Gavilan will have to build up his weight some to cope with a 160-pounder. He thinks added poundage will serve to slow up the welter champion.

Rindone isn't even ranked among the first ten middleweights behind Olson but in his last appearance, last November, he flattened Joey De John in two rounds. He told a decision over durable Pierre Langlois.

Nebraska City Pushes Falls City But Loses

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Writer
NEBRASKA CITY—Falls City still stands as one of the two undefeated Class A basketball teams in Nebraska, but the Tigers may be shivering if the weather down near the Kansas border is cold today.

Some large patches of the Tigers for were torn loose in Nebraska City High's gymnasium when the Pioneers pushed the fabled Richardson County club right down to the final buzzer before losing a 50-48 game.

Coach Jack McIntyre's boys won without the swift Nels Kjeldsen, the Tiger center who belongs to the upper class of Cornhusker prep basketball society.

Tall Nels was missing this night but another center who will be recognized in this part of the state, forced Nels to hustle for his standing.

Tall Pete Christensen, 6-3½ junior from Nebraska City, beat the Tigers off the boards most of the night and shot the home team into a 46-45 lead with 2:30 left.

Falls City's Gary Adams, high man with 17, used his quick start to go in for an attempted layup. He was fouled, hit two shots and put the Tigers ahead for keeps.

Mickey Cochran—Kjeldsen's substitute—hit a field goal before Pioneer Dennis Folkerts pushed the ball through to bring the score to 49-48, Falls City.

Falls City stalled, received some foul shots and slipped through to its eighth victory.

Chunky Bill Sorenson gave the Tigers points in the first half with left-handed hook shots while cutting across the post of the small court. Adams was hitting shots while Joe Peck, who led Nebraska City with 11 points, was keeping the Pioneers in the game with close one-handers.

Nebraska City overcame an early 8-3 deficit to take an 11-8 first-quarter lead. At the half, Falls City had regained the lead, 26-23. They stretched it early in the third quarter and led 41-35 going into the last quarter.

Verdes Baucke came off the Nebraska City bench to hit the four field goals which pressed the Tigers in the wild last period. Baucke is a six-foot junior with a sharp eye and a good one-hand jump shot.

Hall Of Fame Votes To Be Counted Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Ballots for the 14th annual election to baseball's Hall of Fame will be counted here today.

Some 300 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America took part in the voting.

Only former players who have been retired from the playing end of baseball for at least five years were eligible for consideration under new rules in force this year. An exception was made in the cases of Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dickey and Ted Lyons since they received more than 100 votes in the 1953 balloting.

To be chosen a player must be named on at least 75 per cent of the ballots. Only two were picked in 1953—Dizzy Dean and Al Simmons. Bill Terry missed by eight votes.

South Bend, Ind. (UPI)—Notre Dame's basketball team, which hasn't lost a game to Purdue since 1947, licked the Boilermakers for the eighth straight time Tuesday, 95-74. Joe Bertrand scored 25 points for the Irish, ranked No. 6 nationally.

Turning in its 10th victory of 12 games this season, Notre Dame had too much experience for the seniorless Purdue club, losing for the fifth time in 12 starts.

Purdue hung on until midway in the first quarter when Notre Dame went ahead 13-11, on a jump shot by John Fannon, a 6-foot-5 sophomore from Philadelphia.

Confident G.M. To Spend Billion For Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Tuesday put a billion dollars behind its confidence in the immediate future and the long term demand for its products.

Its president, Harlow H. Curtice, announced their corporation will spend that sum in expanding the production facilities of its various divisions. The announcement, one of the most significant in automotive history, was made to a luncheon meeting of business men and industrialists.

Curtice's optimistic outlook was seconded by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., General Motors board chairman. He said he thought Curtice may have been conservative. "My opinion," Sloan said, "is that before it (the expansion program) gets through it probably will be a billion and a half."

'No Depression'
The luncheon meeting was preliminary to the opening Thursday of General Motors' 1954 Motorama, a huge presentation of the corporation's various products and engineering research.

Curtice told his listeners:

1. "There is no depression in my vision."

2. "It is my belief the national economy should be strong and healthy throughout the year."

3. "The nation's gross product this year should approximately equal the 365 billion estimated for 1953."

4. "There should be little investment by industry; new housing starts that "should exceed a million again this year," and continued high defense expenditures.

It was his opinion, the General Motors president said, that defense outlays "will not be reduced drastically in 1954, although many adjustments will be made as between various categories."

6. "General Motors' 1954 sales volume in 'physical and dollar terms' should not be far from the 1953 high level or more than nine billion dollars."

7. "Car and truck output this year, including Canadian production and export units should approximate seven million units." (Last year's total was 7,800,000.)

Other Reasons

Curtice listed several other reasons for his belief that good business lies ahead for 1954. They included: Continued high capital investment by industry; new

New Conoco Super Gasoline

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

1. "After 4 years of pretty solid driving, I expected my Nash to run loud and I wasn't surprised at the loss of power. But since using Conoco Super with TCP, the difference has been astounding. It runs like new. No 'knocking' or 'pinging.' And man, you should see me take the hills!"

Richard Palmquist, Deputy Sheriff
3943 North 40th Street, Omaha, Nebraska

2. "When I switched to Conoco Super with TCP, my man asked me: 'What have you been doing to the car? It runs just like new! We're getting 3 miles more to the gallon with our 1950 Packard. The car starts instantly and the acceleration on the road is just wonderful!"

Mrs. Katherine Szarkowski, Housewife
4616 Ash Street, Hammond, Indiana

3. "Since I started using Conoco Super with TCP my Pontiac runs as though it had new spark plugs and points. When I'm on trips I carry an extra 15 gallons with me. I don't want to run out. I don't like to use any other. Conoco Super with TCP is tops as far as I'm concerned."

Wilford G. Dick, Owner, Dick's Window Washing Co.
1302 M 1/2, Galveston, Texas

4. "As a salesman, I drive 30 to 35,000 miles a year in my '52 Packard. Ordinarily, I'd change spark plugs every 10,000 miles. But since using Conoco Super with TCP, I've driven 14,000 miles and the plugs are still in perfect condition. It's the best gasoline I've ever used!"

Howard J. Ford, Roofing Salesman
1621 47th Street, Des Moines, Iowa

5. "I drive a 1952 Plymouth. Using Conoco Super with TCP, I'm getting at least two miles more to the gallon. And my experience with pickup and power is really astounding. I'm sure I'm getting 100% increase in all-around performance. You sure get the best out of your car using Conoco Super!"

Ben E. Waggoner, Bank Executive
3820 S. Cherokee Street, Englewood, Colorado

Millions have proved it—now prove it in your car
NEW CONOCO Super GASOLINE WITH TCP

Start your "Two-Tank Test" today.

Motorists say they can feel the difference in car performance after the second tankful of Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP. No wonder it's hailed as the greatest gasoline advance since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922. New Conoco Super with TCP actually neutralizes the harmful deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers that rob you of power. Thus it boosts power up to 15%—increases spark-plug life up to 150%—dramatically boosts gas mileage, too. With TCP, a new car keeps its built-in power; older cars can run like new again.

Your Guarantee

Only Shell Oil Company, and its authorized licensee, the Continental Oil Company, have the full knowledge on the proper use of TCP. It took Shell scientists more than 5 years to perfect the use of TCP in automotive gasoline. Only Conoco Super Gasoline and Shell Premium Gasoline have TCP. The trademark, TCP, is your guarantee that you are getting the full benefits of the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Omaha Ordered To Quit Burying Trash, Garbage In East Section

OMAHA (AP)—Douglas County Commissioners Tuesday ordered the city of Omaha to quit burying trash and garbage in East Omaha.

The board gave the city five days to cease operation of its landfill disposal operations on East 25th Street near the Missouri River.

The action followed another plea by Atty. Ted Richling on behalf of protesting East Omaha residents.

The county board's vote to ban the dump operations was 3 to 1, with one commissioner passing.

Strong feeling of East Omaha residents against operation of the dump in their area resulted two weeks ago in their getting up a roadblock to keep garbage-trash trucks from reaching the site.

Mayor Glenn Cunningham said the city will just go on operating despite the county board's order and let the county make the next move.

Street Commissioner John Rosenthal, who operates the contested dump, said he had no other place to go. The land is owned by the East Omaha drainage district which has given the city permission to use it as a dump.

City Attorney Edward F. Fogarty questioned the county board's authority to bar use of the dump.

The county board said the dump should be abandoned on grounds it is a health nuisance.

Catholic Club Ruled Tax Free

NU Student Group Uses Property

The Newman Club's Catholic Student Center at 1602 Q was declared to be exempt from taxation by Lancaster County and the City of Lincoln for the years 1952 and 1953 in a ruling by Lancaster District Judge Paul White.

The 1602 Q property had been willed in a contingent trust to the Newman Club by Mrs. Theresa Sphar Schaeaf, who died June 3, 1951.

If its use as a chapel and for other religious purposes for University of Nebraska students was begun within five years and continued for a period of five years, the property is to be conveyed to the Newman Club by the trustee.

In its suit to enjoin the collection of taxes, the Newman Club successfully maintained that "no financial gain or profit passed between the user (Newman Club) or owner (trustee and contingent remainderman) during the years the property was exempted from taxation by the court."

Defendant parties had contended that during the "contingent period of the trusteeship" that the property was subject to taxation under state statutes.

The property is being used as chapel, residence of a chaplain, and student center by the Newman Club. This was not disputed.

The effect of Judge White's ruling exempting the property from taxation was the "contingency in the title is immaterial" as the property was used for religious purposes and no financial gain or profit passed between "user" and "owner" during this time.

Inheritance Tax Opinion Is Given

The attorney general's office Tuesday issued an opinion clarifying the handling of costs occurred in the determination and assessment of inheritance taxes.

The law requires the county treasurer to pay a fee to the county judge from the inheritance tax fund, and the judge in turn pays the fee to the treasurer for the general fund.

It may appear to be a useless effort, but "the wisdom of this is not for us to determine," Assistant Attorney Gen. Robert Nelson wrote.

"The Legislature may have felt that the general fund of the county from which the cost of maintaining the county court is paid, should be reimbursed by the inheritance tax fund in the amount of these fees," Nelson added.

State Auditor Ray Johnson, whose office checks county officer periodically, requested the opinion.

The film of 16mm. runs for 14 minutes and can be obtained by writing to Ramsey at the state commission office. A 16mm. available to clubs is a film, "Air Age" prepared by the Idaho Aeronautics Commission.

Ramsey explains that both films are educational in nature.

A strange man in Los Angeles known as "The Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astounding 64 page book analyzing the great world prophecies covering these times. It shows that four of the greatest prophecies could not come true until the present time. But now they can, and world-shaking events are due. He believes everyone should prepare at once for the fateful crisis. Thus many people will avoid catastrophe.

Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. ## J. J. Cariotto Is Re-Elected Cedars Head

Joseph J. Cariotto was re-elected president of Cedars Home Foundation, trustee for Cedars Home for Children, at the annual meeting at the Capital Hotel Tuesday noon.

Other officers named include Louis H. Babst, vice president; M. C. Leonard, secretary; and Ray J. Becker, treasurer.

Mrs. Reg Roper and Orrill Rasmussen were elected to serve one-year terms on the board of trustees.

The board named Mrs. Alberta Kuklish, acting superintendent since the resignation of Mrs. Marie Reinmuth on July 1, 1953, as superintendent.

New Home

Wayne Packard and Bryan Littrell, co-chairmen of the Cedars Home building committee, reported that construction of the new home was completed in December, 1953. The children and staff moved into their new home a few days before Christmas.

Dedication and open house in the new home will be held in April, Packard said.

Mrs. Kuklish reported that as of Dec. 31, 41 children were living in the home. During 1953, 105 were cared for at Cedars. The average cost per day per child totaled $2.21, as compared with a cost of $2.14 per child in 1952, Mrs. Kuklish said.

Finance and budget chairman Babst reported that net proceeds from the Cedars Christmas letter were $6,902, as of Jan. 18. The total represents a 10 per cent increase from the previous year.

Operating Expenses

Receipts from the Christmas letter are used for operating expenses of the home, Babst said.

Board members of the Cedars Foundation include the following:

Report Due Tuesday On 'Lost' Taxes

Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagener said he would "probably make my report and recommendations" next Tuesday to the Board of Commissioners as to a possible lawsuit to recover state gas tax funds reportedly "lost" to the county through the state treasurer's possible failure to use the "latest" figures in the distribution formula.

Wagener said he has received the report of Ross Martin, a Lincoln accountant hired by the county to obtain "needed figures" from the state treasurer's books, and would "analyze the exhibits" during this week.

He indicated no disclosure of the figures would probably be made before his report to the board.

A loss of "upwards from $50,000" may have resulted to Lancaster County from the use of 1940 census and 1949 motor vehicle figures until October, 1953. State Treasurer Frank Heintz has admitted some tardiness in using the 1950 census and last year's motor vehicle registration figures in the current distribution formula.

Previously, Wagener indicated an avenue of recovery would be a suit on Heintz's bond by the county.

The awards were established by act of Congress. President Eisenhower will make the presentations later this year.

The governor was asked to submit one nomination for each award, to the Young American Medals Committee by April 30.

No more than two medals for bravery and two for service will be awarded to candidates recommended by governors of all states.

While the awards are to be made in 1954, the act or service must have been performed in 1953.

A candidate must have been under 19 years of age at the time the act or service was performed.

Report Due Tuesday On 'Lost' Taxes

Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagener said he would "probably make my report and recommendations" next Tuesday to the Board of Commissioners as to a possible lawsuit to recover state gas tax funds reportedly "lost" to the county through the state treasurer's possible failure to use the "latest" figures in the distribution formula.

Wagener said he has received the report of Ross Martin, a Lincoln accountant hired by the county to obtain "needed figures" from the state treasurer's books, and would "analyze the exhibits" during this week.

He indicated no disclosure of the figures would probably be made before his report to the board.

A loss of "upwards from $50,000" may have resulted to Lancaster County from the use of 1940 census and 1949 motor vehicle figures until October, 1953. State Treasurer Frank Heintze has admitted some tardiness in using the 1950 census and last year's motor vehicle registration figures in the current distribution formula.

Previously, Wagener indicated an avenue of recovery would be a suit on Heintze's bond by the county.

Mrs. Reg Roper and Orrill Rasmussen were elected to serve one-year terms on the board of trustees.

The board named Mrs. Alberta Kuklisch, acting superintendent since the resignation of Mrs. Marie Reinmuth on July 1, 1953, as superintendent.

THE MOVE TO MODERN LIVING

See why the trend is growing to the 1954 Lincoln

The facts are simple: Lincoln is the one fine car whose sales have more than doubled in two short years.

There are good reasons why this trend keeps growing. The great new Lincoln for 1954 is the most dramatic edition of the car that started the big change in American motorists' ideas about fine cars.

Take, for instance, Lincoln's new styling—from the stunning new grille to the crisp, new rear deck and distinctive new taillights. It is a completely new design—akin to the ground-hugging, functional look found wherever the living is modern. Note, too, how well

Lincoln's new colors and fabrics go with Lincoln's new styling; dramatic new shades in nylons, gabardines, and leathers.

Above all you have incredible performance. Lincoln's world-famous V-8 engine has the new automatic 4-barrel carburetor—gives you superbly controlled action at all times. Add to all this the optional features—power steering, power brakes, the 4-way power seat and electric power window lifts—and driving becomes practically effortless. You'll know what we mean the moment you drive a wonderful new 1954 Lincoln or Lincoln Capri.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

Dean Tells How He Stood In Taejon And Vented His Anger By Firing .45 At Red Tank

NEW YORK (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean vented his anger over the Communists' retreating 24th Division early in the Korean War by standing in Taejon's shattered streets and firing his .45 at a Red tank.

"I wasn't silly enough to expect to Maj. Gen. Dean do anything with a pistol," he said. "That was just plain rage and frustration—just Dean losing his temper again and doing

Made Mistakes

"In the fighting I made some mistakes and I've kicked myself a thousand times for them," he wrote.

Dean's account of his tank-hunting is given in the first installment of "My Three Years as a Dead Man," appearing Tuesday in the Saturday Evening Post.

His tank exploits occurred July 20, 1950, the day he was cut off from most of his division. After more than a month of trying to find his way back to his lines, he was captured Aug. 26. He was released last September after more than three years as a prisoner.

ENTERING TAEJON

Entering Taejon, he and a small group of men gave chase to a tank which parked at an intersection near some stores. Protecting enemy rifle fire made them take cover.

Woman Giveaway

"We withdrew through the stores and tried again at a different spot, but again the rifles found us," Dean recalled.

"I think this time our position may have been given away by a fat Korean woman who calmly stood beside a building on the street while all this firing was going on."

"One of the soldiers wanted to shoot her but I couldn't be sure enough that she was a lookout

"On the third attempt at the lost ground I shouldn't have lost."

"Other men resisted torture but I wasn't tortured. Others bluffed the Communists steadily whereas I was lucky enough to do it only once in a while. Others starved and I was fed—even learned to like kimchee (a highly-seasoned vegetable dish). Others died for a principle but I died in a suicide attempt."

Dean wrote in detail about the events of July 20, 1950 when he set out to check personally on reports that big T-34 Russian-built tanks, manned by North Koreans, had broken into Tae-jon.

Protecting enemy rifle fire made them take cover.

"Very cautiously, I slipped up to the window and looked around the side of it with one eye—directly into the muzzle of the tank's cannon not a dozen feet away."

"I could have spit down the barrel I signaled to the bazooka man and pointed to a spot just at the base of the cannon where the turret and tank body joined. The bazooka went off beside my ear."

"From the tank came the most horrible screaming I'd ever heard—although I heard its equal later—and under different circumstances—but the tank still was not on fire, I think I said 'Hit them again' and pointed to another spot at the side of the turret. The bazooka fired and more plaster cascaded."

Screaming Stopped

"A third time the bazooka fired and the screaming stopped while smoke rose from the tank."

Dean said the hectic days prior to July 20 not only included the "demoralizing" mass flight of South Korean soldiers "without any fight" but at least one unexplained withdrawal by an American outfit.

He told of waiting on July 5, 1950, for word that the Reds had attacked the 34th Infantry Regiment of his command at Pyon-tack, 50 miles northwest up the road from Taejon.

"But the only trouble was the 34th didn't wait," he said.

"Maybe I didn't give orders clearly enough or somebody misunderstood . . . but I was astonished when I got word that afternoon that the 34th had pulled out and now was clear down past Chonan, 20 miles south and well south of the spot where the sea anchored their flank."

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kierman
Distributed by International News Service
My barber says we would get more women to vote if the young age was lowered to 18. He says all girls under 18 like to be thought of as 18 and so do all girls over 18, so how could we lose?

I told you about the two girls who registered for the last election in our town... One said, "I'm over 21," and the other one said, "I'm her mother... I'm also over 21."

Then the father registered... He said, "I'm 62 but I'm supposed to be younger than my wife so I guess I'll have to say 'under 21.'"

President Eisenhower is in favor of lowering the voting age to 18 and former President Truman is in favor of raising it to 24 and any barbers stands with the present president.

He says, "Raise the voting age to 24 and that's the end of the woman's vote in this country and we need them."

I said, "Do you think women

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Sgt. Bryant Braboy awoke from a deep dream, rubbed his eyes and decided he was still dreaming.

His company commander stood at the foot of the bunk polishing the sergeant's boots. The dream got better. He walked the first sergeant, carrying a tray loaded with breakfast which he served to Braboy in bed. The first sergeant was followed by a second lieutenant with a three-day pass for Braboy.

While Braboy pinched himself, the company commander explained the service was part of a new program for men who re-enlisted in the unit.

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Police said a 60-year-old employee of a scrap metal yard over a six-year period took $219 worth of scrap home in his lunch bucket. His former employer declined to prosecute when the man repaid all the money received in selling the scrap. The scrap was brass, lead and copper.

One letter simply stands for another letter, etc. In this example A is used for the three L's for the two O's, etc. Since there are 26 letters, the length and formation of the words are all alike.

Each day the code words are different.

WISHING WELL

By William J. Miller

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 4 to it. Add the number to the upper-left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Rally in Railroads Boosts Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — A rally focused on the railroads Tuesday sent the stock market bouncing ahead. Buyer enthusiasm was based to a great extent on the fact that the rails in the past have many times given the signal for a general advance.

Gains went to between one and two points in many sections, and the losses were limited.

Rally In Railroads Boosts Advance

NEW YORK (P)—A rally focused on the railroads Tuesday sent the stock market bounding ahead.

Buyer enthusiasm was based to a great extent on the fact that the rails in the past have many times given the signal for a general advance.

Gains went to between one and two points in many sections, and the losses were limited.

Cushman Request For Tax Refund May Bring Test Case

Attorneys for Cushman Motor Works of Lincoln indicated the request that Lancaster County refund to the corporation such portions of its 1953 "Class B" intangible tax as claimed as "unlawfully assessed" may result in a test case in the Nebraska courts.

Presentation of the Cushman case to the Board of Commissioners was made Tuesday by Attorneys Robert Van Pelt and W. K. Dalton. Their "memorandum brief" was referred to Deputy Co. Atty. Dale Fahnbruch for recommendations next week as to the action the board should take.

The Cushman firm is requesting a refund of $167.03 in tax paid, but which it contends was unlawfully assessed under the tax statutes as amended by the 1953 Legislature.

View Outlined

Cushman attorneys take this view of the time sequence and effect of LB 272 (50 per cent of actual value law), effective March 6, 1953, and LB 87, (reducing Class B tax from 8 to 4 mills), effective Sept. 14, 1953. They say:

1. Prior to March 6 all property to be valued and assessed at actual value and 8 mills per actual value on intangible "B".

2. Between March 6 and Sept. 14, 1953, all property was to be valued at one-half actual value and the tax of 8 mills on one-half actual value of intangible "B".

3. Subsequent to Sept. 14, all property was to be assessed at 50 per cent of actual value and the tax on that basis for tax purposes at one-half actual value, but under provisions of Sec. 77-703 as amended, intangible "B" is to be taxed at 4 mills.

The county's position, expressed by Fahnbruch, is that the general law providing for "50 per cent of actual value" does not affect intangible property in view of "specific statutes" for its taxation.

He also pointed out that a state attorney general's opinion said that the 4-mill tax on "Class B" property does not become effective until the 1954 tax year since the new tax law was passed without an emergency clause.

Asked by the board what ef-

Base Road To West O May Get Speeds Of 50 Day, 45 Night

The Lincoln Air Force Base road south to West O may be posted for speed limits of 50 day and 45 nighttime and a larger "warning" sign will call attention to the "island" near the old south gate.

The Lancaster County Commissioners instructed the County Attorney's office to draw a resolution to this effect upon the recommendations of County Engineer L. W. Weaver.

The Board had asked for this recommendation following a request by a LAFB spokesman that speeds on the road be reduced to 30 miles-per-hour in view of the near fatal accident which occurred recently near the "island."

1. Awarded to Burroughs Corporation a $772.20 contract for the purchase of a wall-to-wall carpeting material to be used in the county treasurer's office. Burroughs submitted the only bid.

2. Instructed a resolution be drawn terminating $383.78 in unclaimed funds held by the County Court to the county general fund.

3. Fixed the following salaries effective Feb. 1 upon recommendation of department heads—County Clerk's office, Lloyd Sampson, $250; Marvin Dreszen, $250; Shirley Grant, $185; Relic department, $185; and Sheriff's office, Clifford Williams, $230.
